SYRIANS CLAIM BIG VICTORY IN REVOLT AGAINST NASSER

'Country Freed From Despotism'

BEIRUT, Lebanon (UPI) — Syrian rebel officers early today claimed victory in "freeing the country from despotism and the rule" of UAR President Gamal Abdel Nasser and claimed to have wiped out a number of paratroopers in the Latakia area.

The rebel radio also claimed the support of the Syrian First Army, which Nasser earlier had ordered into action against the revolt.

(See also Page 8)

Rebel broadcasts also claimed that Aleppo, Syria's largest city, was in their hands, as well as the capital, Damascus.

In still another broadcast, Radio Damascus proclaimed formation of an independent Syrian government led by army Lt. Col. Mahmoud El Kuzbari, said Jordan had recognized this government and claimed 200 Egyptian paratroopers dropped on the port city of Latakia had been wiped out.

NASSER 'A DESPOT' — Radio Damascus then promised that the army would get out of politics later and "restore the rule of the country to the hands of faithful people."

The broadcast called Nasser a despot and said he sought "bloodshed for his own benefit."

'SERIOUS THREAT'

In Cairo, the revolt was considered the most serious threat to the United Arab Republic since its formation. Officials said it was far more critical than an invasion from another country.

The Syrian officers' uprising against Nasser and control of their nation by the Cairo-dominated UAR revived the threat of Communist takeover in Syria. The revolutionaries were joined by Communists who demonstrated in the streets against Nasser and the UAR.

FIRED UP

The claim of First Army support for the revolt was broadcast in the form of a rebel statement directed to Nasser, who earlier in the day had ordered the same troops to march on Damascus and restore his rule.

In the first of two speeches he made yesterday, Nasser told the First Army to recapture the Syrian capital. The revolt appeared to end at that time, but it flared up seven hours later, and Nasser again gave orders to march.

In his second radio broadcast in 10 hours, Nasser said Hinde and Hisham Abd-Rabbu.

PRESIDENT NASSER
... no compromise

last night "I shall never accept bargaining or compromise" with the rebels and warned that they must "accept the consequences of their action." He told the troops to "do your duty" to crush the revolt.

Nasser's warnings indicated he planned an all-out military action to smash the rebellion.

LEADERS FIRED

The UAR announced that Nasser had fired six leaders of the mutiny, stripped them of their rank and told their troops not to obey their orders. But the rebels retaliated by broadcasting their 11th communique of the day ordering a dark-to-dawn curfew. A 12th communique then said hopes for an end to the rebellion collapsed.

The UAR announcement listed the revolt leaders as Brig. Abdel Ghani Dahman and Muwaffak Asafav. Lt. Col. Abdel Keim El Nahawi, Haydar El Kuzbari, Nasseeb Hinde and Hisham Abd-Rabbu.

B.C. Telephone Attacked by MP

OTTAWA (CP) — The British Columbia Telephone Company came under heavy criticism in the Commons Thursday night.

Erhart Regier (CCF—Burnaby-Coquitlam) said the company "by hook or by crook" had "escaped" provincial jurisdiction of the B.C. Public Utilities Commission and still remains under the jurisdiction of the federal Board of Transport Commissioners.

The board accepted "holubus" any argument advanced by the company. No argument by any B.C. community had ever been given serious consideration by the board.

Company replies to complaints were "accepted as gospel" by the board.

Telephone users in British Columbia paid twice the rates of users in some other provinces. The company had a "fantastic device" — the more users, the fewer exchanges established and the higher the rates.

MPs End Longest Session

OTTAWA (CP) — The longest parliamentary session in Canadian history was prolonged early today with the reading of the speech from the throne by Chief Justice Patrick Kerwin, deputy Governor-General.

For the weary Commons members, who started their work last Nov. 17 and had been, on a six-day week since May, it was the 174th sitting day. The previous record session was 155 days in 1963.

Nigeria Seeks Men, Planes In Canada

OTTAWA (CP) — Nigerian Defence Minister Ribadu said Thursday he will recommend his government purchase about $6,000,000 worth of transport planes from De Havilland Aircraft of Canada, Downsview, Ont.

He also said in an interview he has asked Canada to supply instructors for the Nigerian armed forces and to train 30 student officers in this country each year.

MANY MORE NEEDED — Mr. Ribadu, who has conferred here with Prime Minister Diefenbaker and Defence Minister Harkness, said Nigeria will need "many more" instructors than the 30 Canada has sent to Ghana, another African member of the Commonwealth.

He said there is every indication Nigeria's request will receive very sympathetic consideration from the Canadian government.

TO SURVEY NEEDS

The next step should be for a Canadian armed forces team to go to Nigeria to assess that country's needs and see what Canada can do to supply them.

He said the matter is "pretty urgent" and that he hoped the Canadian team would leave for Nigeria by the end of October.

SPIED SEEN

"We are a young nation and we have to move fast."

Nigeria has an army and navy and plans to start building a small air force. There would be no purchase of fighter planes until Nigeria had trained air crew of its own.

WILLING TO PAY

Mr. Ribadu said he would like to see 10 Nigerians from each of the three services trained in Canada each year. Nigeria was willing to pay for this as well as for a Canadian instructional staff stationed in Nigeria.

Mr. Ribadu said it is necessary for Nigeria, the most populous country in Africa, to be able to defend its borders against any aggressor.

Don't Let Gloom Paralyze West Says Diefenbaker

VERNON, B.C. (CP) — Prime Minister Diefenbaker called again Thursday night for new East-West disarmament and other cold war negotiations, despite Russia's rejection of the West's latest proposals.

Speaking of the disarmament plan put before the United Nations by President Kennedy and Soviet Foreign Minister Gromyko's answer, Mr. Diefenbaker told an audience of about 2,000 here:

"Even though Gromyko has turned it down, I hope negotiations may continue in good faith. If they do, we have a chance of progress in the immediate future."

He told a banquet meeting of the Union of British Columbia Municipalities that even though the West is "bludgeoned with words" by Premier Khrushchev, "we must not be paralyzed by gloom; we must meet him with a firm and calm response."

Mega-Deaths Warning

Mr. Diefenbaker said Khrushchev has set out to destroy or take over the United Nations by demanding establishment of a "troika" to replace the secretary-general.

He said throughout Asia and Africa, Communist literature is about all the people have in abundance to read.

"The harvest of war with audience composed mainly of elected municipal council members from all parts of British Columbia, said the Canadian economic picture is growing brighter.

Canada can look forward to a period of continued and increased expansion, but faces another seasonal unemployment problem this winter.

"We must take steps to do away with the very causes of war, and we must begin bargaining now."

Mr. Diefenbaker, in fighting political trim before the

While sprinkles of rain over the lower mainland recorded high radiation counts, Pacific Naval Laboratory scientists in Victoria said yesterday radioactivity over the island has remained light.

The general radioactivity fallout count over Victoria remains at about 10 times the levels recorded before the Russians resumed nuclear testing, the scientists added.

'Mother Country Idea Dead to Canadians'

LONDON (CP) — A Canadian delegate to the Commonwealth parliamentary conference said yesterday Britain now is little more than a tourist attraction for most Canadians.

Douglas Fisher, CCF member of Parliament for Port Arthur, told delegates there were two reasons why Canadians at the conference had made innocuous contributions to the debates.

"In the first place those of us in opposition have no desire to embarrass the Canadian government by talking about the (European) Common Market problem," he said.

"Secondly, it must be made clear that

Canada's links with Britain now are very, very tenuous.

"Unlike our Australian and New Zealand friends, we can't accept this whole business of mother country."

The days when a Canadian could boast a British subject I was born, a British subject I shall die, are passed."

Fisher said Britain's possible entry into the Common Market was just something Canadians would have to adjust to.

"And we always have a great neighbor to our south (the United States) on whom we can count for certain alternatives."

Fisher's speech was greeted by polite applause from the conference's 140 delegates.

Officer Forgot The Law

VANCOUVER (CP) — A citizen has the right to resist arrest if he is not told why he is being arrested, Magistrate A. L. Bewley ruled Thursday in throwing out a police charge of assault against Yvonne Black, 27.

'KICKED HIM'

Constable Richard Begley charged the woman kicked him after he had arrested her male companion. So he arrested her too, but admitted in court he did not state the charge.

CODE QUOTED

The magistrate quoted the Criminal Code about police telling persons why they are being taken into custody. He said the courts would back police to the hilt in their duty but they must conform to the Criminal Code wherever possible.

A drunk charge against the man in the case, Bruce Erickson, also was dismissed.

Dead Man's Estate Sued For Pollution of Pool

PATERSON, N.J. (UPI) — A dead man's estate is being sued because the car in which he was killed plunged into a fish pond and allegedly resulted in the death of a stock of trout.

Mr. and Mrs. Bayard Schaffer, the pond owners, filed suit yesterday in Passaic county court against the estate of Nicholas Nicholson.

They estimated damages as a result of a two-car collision last March. Nicholson's car ran off the road, down a 35-foot embankment, through a retaining wall and plunged 12 feet into the Schaffers' eight-foot-deep pond. Nicholson was trapped in the vehicle and drowned.

The Schaffers claimed their pond had become polluted and all other species of trout and other small fish died.

They estimated damages as a result of a two-car col-

ALL ABOARD

With G. E. Mortimore

OYSTER-RUSTLERS are striking at some of the shellfish ranches of Vancouver Island.

In the excitement caused by the "population explosion" among Pacific Coast oysters, many people forget that certain beds of oysters are privately owned.

On some beaches, oysters have become so common that local citizens are tired of them, and would rather scratch around for scarce clams than pick up oysters that are lying on the surface.

Nevertheless, there still are oyster leases, and people still make their living by harvesting oysters.

One seafront dweller is plagued by pirates who go ashore from pleasure boats and steal his oysters by the sackful.

Almost every day he can be observed charging down the beach, screaming with rage and brandishing his flat at a party of oyster-gatherers who are quietly rowing away from the shore in the dinghy, unaware that they have done anything wrong.

An oyster doesn't look like a domestic beast, somehow. It has a wild, untended look about it. Did you ever see an oyster with a brand on its shell?

But some oyster-rustlers know that they are doing wrong.

There may be story possibilities for a Pacific Coast Western entitled "Guns Across the Sand," about a two-fisted young oyster rancher who won a range war against a gang of vicious clam-diggers.

There is another battle going on between rival factions of Victoria motel and motor hotel owners.

Some 700 new rooms have been added to Victoria's motel and motor hotel total, in the last five years.

Many of them are concentrated along Douglas Street at the entrance to the city, where several new motor hotels have arisen since 1959, some of them equipped with restaurants, cocktail bars and beer parlors.

They have set themselves up to intercept visitors coming in by road from B.C. Government ferries and from the airport.

Since most ferries were cut off the Inner Harbor, the stream of visitors has changed course. Manager Cyril Chapman of the Empress Hotel was worked hard to lure the people back with a parking lot, a coach terminus, neon sign, space leased to a wax museum across the road, and the new cut-rate motor lodge.

Motels strung out on the peaceful, flower-lined route of the Gorge Road and the old Island Highway, have been troubled by competition from two directions.

They have tried to draw people down their way by putting up a co-operative sign at the Roundabout. None of the others are happy about the Empress's motor lodge.

However, there is good news in store for them. Next year, the Empress' motor lodge rates will probably increase a little, and some of the pressure will be off.

Furthermore, Seattle Century 21 exposition will bring hundreds of thousands of visitors, and there should be enough business to go around.

Do-It-Yourself Diagnoses Definitely Not Advised

By JOSEPH MOINER, M.D.

"Dear Dr. Moiner: Would you give me a list of acid-forming foods? This is most important to me because my system is full of acid.—M.M."

"Dear Sir: My son has not been well and refuses to go to a doctor. He has found his symptoms in some sort of a book and has diagnosed his problem as pellagra. Please tell me about pellagra? Is it serious? What can be done?—Mrs. K.M."

We're quite a nation of do-it-yourselfers these days. I'm in favor of all of us doing the things that preserve health. But I'm definitely frightened by some of the do-it-yourself diagnoses.

Diagnosis, at best, is a difficult task. Trying to do it yourself is treacherous. Even doctors go to other doctors to judge their own symptoms. Worry, fear, over-confidence, all sorts of things can disturb judgment, and it's better and safer to have some other doctor do the diagnosing.

That's the answer in today's two letters. In the first one, "acid in the system" simply doesn't mean anything.

No foods cause the system to become either more or less acid. Foods of any type are digested, and in the process are broken up into other chemicals.

Tomatoes, for one example, are mildly acid—but they do NOT make either the stomach or the system "acid."

Now for the second letter. Yes, pellagra can be serious.

Pellagra happens in some (not most) farming sections of the world where people live principally on starchy foods and vegetables (potatoes, etc.) but don't get enough meat, fish, dairy products and such high-protein foods.

Pellagra virtually never occurs in cities. So in a case like today's, it's a million-to-one that it ISN'T pellagra.

I'm not opposed to books. Quite the reverse! But it's so easy for someone trying do-it-yourself diagnosis to latch onto one symptom or another and decide that the single symptom identifies the trouble.

"Dear Dr. Moiner: Can anything be done for enlarged pores on the face?—L.L."

'Blatant Lie' Attacked By Fleming

OTTAWA (CP)—Finance Minister Fleming flatly denied Thursday any suggestion that Canada led a Commonwealth "gang" up on Britain at the Accra Commonwealth conference earlier this month.

He vowed in the Commons he would not serve as a cabinet minister in any government which adopted the anti-British attitude some reports had attributed to him and Trade Minister Hees at the talks.

EMOTIONAL REPLY

Mr. Fleming spoke for more than an hour in an emotional reply to opposition critics who have accused Canada of threatening Britain over the British proposal to join the Common Market.

"There is not the slightest shred of proof in those charges," he declared.

VARIOUS LABELS

He labelled various reports of an anti-British stand by the cabinet members as "diverse, right falsehood," "false in all particulars" and "a blatant lie."

Market Shift Worst On Wheat

OTTAWA (CP)—A table showing the effect Britain's entry into the European Common Market would have on Canadian exports to the United Kingdom was issued Thursday night by Trade Minister Hees.

The table lists 71 Canadian export items, 39 with their largest market in Britain.

ALL LISTED

For each one the British market value, present tariff, common market tariff and lost preference is listed.

Chief item is wheat, of which Canada sold $133,700,000 worth to Britain last year.

UP TO PEAK

Now admitted free of tariff, it would face an eventual 22 per cent levy under the common market tariff scale which builds up to a peak over 10 years.

Canadian newsprint, now admitted free, would face a 7 per cent levy in 10 years. Butter, another free item, would be liable to 21 per cent tariff. So would cheese.

LIONEL CHEVRIER

OTTAWA (CP)—Lionel Chevrier charged in the Commons Thursday night that Transport Minister Balcer and the Conservative government "are out to destroy Trans-Canada Air Lines."

Finance Minister Fleming called the charge "shocking and untrue." Transport Minister Balcer said "nothing is further from the truth."

Mr. Chevrier, a former Liberal transport minister, made the charge after Mr. Balcer told the House why the government decided last month to designate Canadian Pacific Airlines as Canadian carrier from Vancouver into London. The decision still is awaiting British approval.

Mr. Balcer said the move will be "a good one in the long run" and will not harm publicly-owned TCA, now the only Canadian airline permitted to operate on the trans-Atlantic route to Britain.

Mr. Balcer said he realizes both TCA and CPA are facing deficits but all other major air carriers in the world are in a similar situation. It was caused by the expensive changeover to jets.

He said he is convinced both TCA and CPA will emerge from the changeover period and recover strongly enough to make up for the loss.

Community fund campaigns assure better planning of health and welfare services with fewer gaps or duplication. They save thousands of dollars in campaign expenses. They conserve the time and energy of volunteer workers.

Senator Answers John D Challenge

OTTAWA (CP)—Federal Roebuck (La.-Ontario) said Thursday:

The prime minister has done more to "intensify the evil" in the system of federal subsidies to provinces than any predecessor, using the worst features as election bait, he said in the Senate.

But the government must face the voters on "this mess" and it may not be very long either, said the onetime Ontario cabinet minister who threw back Mr. Diefenbaker's challenge Wednesday that the people at the pique time won't listen to the winners and waiters.

Senator Roebuck said Mr. Diefenbaker undertook in his 1957 election campaign to settle the question of federal-provincial fiscal relations on a just basis.

"He has settled nothing... a dismal failure," he said.

That boosted net earnings in the first eight months of 1961 to $23,651,949, compared with $19,728,637 in the corresponding period of 1960.

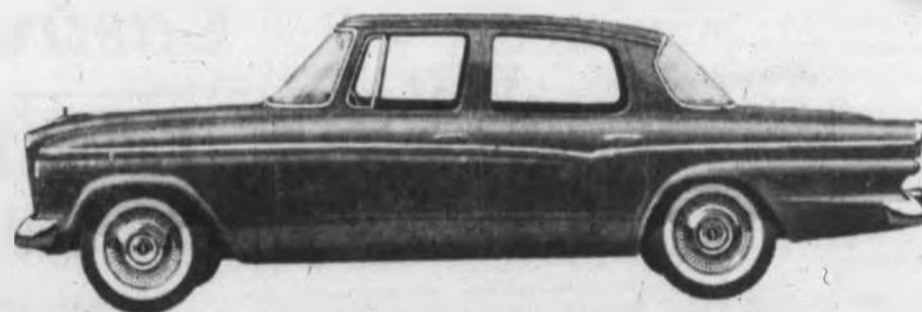

CPR Thursday reported net earnings in August increased to $2,337,822 from $2,107,676 in August last year.

UN Urged To Back Kennedy

UNITED NATIONS (CP) — The United States and Britain proposed Thursday that the United Nations General Assembly throw its weight behind President Kennedy's call on Russia to resume talks on a nuclear test ban treaty.

The Assembly went into recess until Monday after delegates attended a memorial service for Secretary-General Dag Hammarskjöld.

The two Western powers' resolution asked Assembly endorsement of the need for completing action on a treaty providing adequate controls to prevent cheating.

SENATOR HUMPHREY ... not impossible

ROME (UPI)—Sen. Hubert Humphrey (D-Minn.), said last night that the United States is giving "friendly consideration" to recognition of Communist Poland's claim to former German eastern territories, informed sources said.

Humphrey spoke to a closed session of an East-West "problems conference." He was reported to have told it that he "didn't think it impossible for the Oder-Neisse Line to become the fixed frontier" between East Germany and Poland.

'PRIVATE OPINION'

The sources quoted Humphrey as having said "friendly consideration is being given to this" frontier recognition in Washington.

Humphrey told newsmen that everything he said at the conference was as a private citizen.

Nevertheless, his remarks on the Oder-Neisse Line were expected to cause concern in West Germany. It has been official Western policy since the war that the border of Germany cannot be considered final until the conclusion of a peace treaty.

CHUNK ABSORBED

Russia absorbed a huge chunk of Poland during the Second World War, compensating Poland for the loss by winning Allied agreement to put the former East German territories of Silesia and Pomerania under Polish administration. But the action was considered only a temporary one by the allies.

A Note of Hope

THE UNITED NATIONS General Assembly now has before it for consideration 14 concrete suggestions aimed at lessening international tension—six of them contributed by the United States and eight by the Soviet Union.

Despite the fact that there is only one specific area in which the Russian and American peace plans appear to agree—that of disallowing the transfer or control of nuclear weapons to countries not now possessing them—it cannot be said, except by the most cynical, that the remaining points are wholly in conflict.

Certainly the jingoists on both sides of the Iron curtain will see pitfalls and disadvantages to themselves in the proposals put forward by the opposing forces, but it is equally conceivable that the combined suggestions could, if their proponents are sincere in their search for peaceful settlement, offer the basis of negotiations which could ultimately result in the stabilization of world temper.

It may be taken as a good omen that although the Soviet reception of President Kennedy's six-point plan could hardly be described as enthusiastic it at least was not subjected to the type of Kremlin scorn and vituperation other American proposals have received in recent years.

A spirit of optimism may also be excused through the fact that the Russian memorandum was not presented before the UN as a deliberate and bellicose counter-proposal to the Kennedy scheme but almost as an extension of it.

If the Soviet program is looked upon as Premier Khrushchev's acceptance of President Kennedy's challenge to a race for peace, the United Nations General Assembly, and indeed, the whole threat-weary world may once again take heart.

Already both sides are apparently agreed on the necessity of stopping the spread of nuclear arms. If they together see merit in this vital paragraph, surely there is room to hope that similar common ground can be found in the remainder.

The Tourist Deficit

FOR THE TENTH year in succession, Canadians spent more in other countries last year than visitors from other countries spent in Canada, according to newly-published estimates of the Dominion Bureau of Statistics.

Canadians spent $327,000,000 in foreign countries, including $462,000,000 in the United States.

In comparison, visitors spent $420,000,000 in Canada, and the U.S. travellers spent them $375,000,000. This despite the fact that the visitors to Canada outnumbered Canadians—30,000,000 visitors against Canada's population of 18,000,000, which seems to allow a wide margin even if some persons visited Canada three or four times and were counted as three or four individuals.

One of the main reasons for the disparity in tourist trade in terms of dollars appears fairly obvious. For most Canadians the glitter and glamour of big U.S. cities is only a few hours away. The cities of Canada, relatively, are less alluring, either to Canadians or to visitors from the United States. Canada has no London or Paris to offer travellers; nor a Hollywood or a Chicago or a New York. And wonderful scenery does not extract as many dollars from a visitor's pocket as do big cities.

The tourist trade deficit is therefore understandable. But economically it is a matter of considerable consequence to Canada.

Its size and its persistence suggest that the measures taken so far to attract Canadians to see more of their own country instead of going abroad are by no means sufficient: that British Columbia is not trying hard enough and consistently enough to draw visitors from the Prairies and the East, nor the eastern provinces to draw visitors from the West.

This situation makes all the more fitting the idea that a major aspect of the preparations for Canada's centenary in 1967, and of the observance of that birthday, should be the encouragement of Canadians to travel in and get to know their own country.

Delay Is Justified

CRITICS of the government's position with respect to the acquisition of nuclear arms by Canada have an answer which should keep them quiet, for a period at least, in President Kennedy's disarmament proposals to the United Nations. These contain a prohibition of "the transfer of control over nuclear weapons to states that do not now own them."

Canada is such a state, and the prime minister is on record that this country must have a measure of control over any nuclear arms stored for use in its territories. Even if it made a decision tomorrow, therefore, this would be meaningless in light of the prohibition enunciated by the president.

While these disarmament proposals are before the UN, and the possibility of negotiation on them exists, it is thus the government's view there is no necessity for a decision on the acceptance of nuclear weapons by this country.

Why the urge to force an immediate choice in any case? If as the Liberals have concluded the government favors the acquisition of nuclear weapons they should be glad that the choice can be postponed as long as possible, since they affect to oppose such acquisition.

Their complaints of indecision suggest they simply want another issue from which to make political capital and are lured at being robbed of the chance.

The dilemma of all governments these days, and particularly that in a country like Canada which is vulnerable yet lacks the financial means wholly to protect itself, is a major and grievous one.

The choice of weapons is crucial and fateful; it comprises a great and grave responsibility. So profound are the implications this is a subject which should command the sympathetic consideration and support of all parliamentary parties. It should be above political manoeuvring and party advantage; the national interest should take precedence over any other aspect.

If events should prove there is no need after all for Canada to acquire nuclear arms, assuming the question of control could be settled, all the better. It will be an indication that the spread of nuclear weapons is being halted and that will be a world-wide and not simply a Canadian relief.

Meanwhile the government is wise and right in not hastening a decision that could be premature and redundant. It is a queer situation that finds it indicted for co-operating in the steps suggested to void the extension of the one type of weapon that holds the world in fear.

"If they tread on Grandma's toes many more times it'll be bang goodbye to the 'no violence either side' pact."

Thinking Aloud

... of shoes, and ships, and scaling-wax.
By TOM TAYLOR

HALF of my mind sustains the libel associated with my first name—Doubting Thomas. The other half is more benign, innocent, credulous.

Or putting it another way, not so perniciously. It's a nuisance having a pedantic streak, you know. It brings you up short when you're enjoying a book and trying to let the details sink in without challenge. For then the fussy half intrudes and insists that you check what it doubts.

Nor does it help if you establish by other means that the book is wrong. The savor is spoiled. You become suspicious of every other statement of fact that's cited. And that's what's worrying me at the moment.

It happens that yours truly is to give a talk to a small group of male friends on a military topic. Why the latter don't ask. If this surprises you it does me too. The point is, though, that they're a keen-minded lot and they might know more about the subject than I do.

And so it behooves me to see that I don't make any blunders. To be meticulous about the facts.

By good fortune I laid hands on a recently published history of the militia units concerned; a lavishly and seemingly authentic volume by an accredited historian, with a laudatory foreword by a well-known British general.

Here, I gloated, is the answer to a neophyte's prayer. And then that pernicious half I mentioned jumped with glee into action.

I was reading a chapter of some fascination to me since I had shared the experience it recounted, when doubt assailed me. The units cited as taking part in this particular campaign, those of a particular division, didn't exist.

One specific omission I spotted at once. And of course that bothered me.

But knowing that memory is deceitful I looked up another, and unchallengeable, source of information. Sure enough, this highly touted history was wrong.

In one paragraph were several mistaken unit references, and in another a certain division wasn't within a thousand miles of where in this volume it seemed to be.

None of this, I suppose, matters too much even if it did give me a doubtful half a lift. An author dealing with a wide range of activity, when and how a half-hundred different units were deployed, should be allowed a few errors.

But it plays the devil with acceptance. I'm not halfway through the book and I'll be sceptical of all else I read.

Unless, that is, I can put my pernickety instinct back where it belongs—in the shadows.

I'm disturbed further, too, having a bent for history, by realizing that the more you probe into the past the more contradictory it seems; there are so many versions of opposite fact and opinion you don't know what to take as gospel.

Ah well, I should have stuck to my own business and left the talking assignment alone. But maybe some of my listeners will have absorbed this history and be a bit bamboozled themselves.

West German Expectation

A Pause Before the Second Act

By F. S. MANOR, from Bonn

ACT One of the tragedy will end, and shortly, and then there will be a long pause until the more serious Act II begins next summer.

From the gamut of diplomatic and other opinion I have selected these words of an Allied diplomat not only because he is a highly experienced man, who has spent many years in Germany, but also because this seems to correspond to the general mood one finds in this country.

The mood of an impending war, so acute in North America, is wholly absent here. Every morning I watch the market place where the busy housewife buys her Spanish and Italian fruit, French vegetables and German potatoes, seemingly oblivious to notices on several stalls and food stores, inviting her to "lay in stores; there is an advantage to it."

It is quite possible that people living on the edge of a volcano get hardened to the sight of the volcano's smoke, but there is a firm conviction all across West Germany, in the Allied headquarters, in the German editorial offices, at the universities, as well as in political party headquarters, that there will be no war over Berlin.

Everybody has his own recipe of how to save West Berlin, and, frankly, some of the cards vaunted here are anything but aces. The recognition of the Oder-Neisse frontier may have been an ace four years ago, when the Gomułka regime in Poland was still groping for more freedom from Russia, and when Poland would have welcomed a guarantee of her western frontiers.

Lynch justice is another terror weapon now being widely used by the Communists. A 62-year-old man, Otto Meier, of Dessau, in East Germany, dared to say aloud that East Germany's rulers reminded him of the old Nazi bosses. He was brought on the stage of the city auditorium crowded with Communist party members, whose feelings were then skillfully whipped up. "The coward was trembling all over, could hardly stand up, and was mumbling: 'I confess everything, I confess myself,'" reported the East German paper, which described how the mob below yelled at the old man: "Criminal! Thief! Hack off his hand! Lock him up! Such beasts blow up bridges and burn houses!" and, again and again, "Kill him! Kill him!" After this torture, the meeting decided that Mr. Meier should be handed over to secret police.

Meetings of tenants called by the Communist party are deciding upon the eviction from their apartments of East Berlin families whose members criticized the Communist measures in Berlin. An any offence when families are cut off from each other and can no longer even wave to each other across the sealed-off border.

That 15 years after the fall of Hitler, concentration camps still exist on German soil is something that particularly grieves the West Germans, and many now blame Chancellor Adenauer's "hard" line for this complete break off in relations between the two Germanies. "Something should have been done," is the general comment, although no body is quite sure what this "something" should have been.

What it cannot be is either war or such a surrender that would bring East German conditions into West Germany. This may explain the sudden turnabout in the policy of both Chancellor Adenauer and Defence Minister Franz Josef Strauss. Immediately after Aug. 13, when Walter Ulbricht built his "Wall of Shame" in East Berlin, these two proponents of the "hard" line came out in favor of negotiations. The German people wanted talks, and these two shrewd politicians immediately sensed the change in the people's temper.

Only few doubt in Germany that there will be a accommodation over Berlin. However, those who think further ahead realize that Mr. Khrushchev is not aiming at Berlin alone. He is aiming at the break-up of the European community, at the isolation of the individual European states, at the break-up of NATO.

The real showdown that will probably concern the future of the Federal German Republic is yet to come.

Some believe that Mr. Khrushchev may have missed the bus, that President Kennedy is now catching up so fast that by next summer the West will have a considerable edge over the Soviet bloc.

Others feel that the Communists can expect much success from the neutralist, disaffected trend now making itself felt in Germany. We shall see many changes in Germany, and in Western Europe, in the coming months, and not all of them will be for the better.

With Canada's Help

Exporting Private Enterprise

By DAVID GRENIER

A PERUVIAN company branches out into making refrigerators and household appliances. A Pakistani businessman sets up a cotton textile mill. A new sugar mill springs up in Tanganyika.

These new ventures, symbols of the world industrial revolution sparked by rising expectations, have one thing in common; they owe their existence to the International Finance Corporation.

The IFC's business is exporting private enterprise. This affiliate of the World Bank doesn't deal with governments. It deals with individual businessmen, bringing new industries to those countries of Latin America, Asia and Africa known as the underdeveloped nations.

Canada has a vital stake in all this, since it is one of the leading subscribers to the IFC. Of its total capital stock of $60 million, this country has provided $8.8 million. So in a very real sense, Canada has helped make possible the IFC's 40-odd investments, valued at over $44 million, in 18 different countries.

In the last year alone, there have been nine new investments made in seven different countries. In Argentina, for instance, a subsidiary of a Swiss company now plans to make transmissions and gears for trucks and automobiles with IFC aid. In India, a new enterprise is making a wide variety of pumps. In Jamaica, the IFC has helped set up the island's only producer of ready-mixed concrete.

It's a hard, long struggle, this prosaic business of building up the economies of the underdeveloped nations and making it possible for them to improve their standard of living. The IFC knows. It knows all the disappointments and triumphs, the anxieties and successes of establishing new industries.

It knows how long such industries need to take full root; how easy it is to fail to allow for an ample margin of error on the build-up of markets, the need for sufficient working capital and a multitude of factors affecting business decisions.

There are problems encountered in getting into production, in reconciling new industries to the habits of peoples in different stages of economic development. More and more, the IFC has found out, the pattern is to establish joint enterprises, sharing capital and management.

It would be easy to write off these painstaking efforts to export private enterprise, as easy as it is to forget how much the development of not only Canada but also the U.S., Russia and Sweden has owed to the willingness of foreign investors to run risks.

At the present time, too, there's the added feeling of disillusionment with foreign aid. What good is foreign aid, it's argued, if the neutrals and the underdeveloped countries fail to back up the West-over Berlin or Laos or in the UN?

It takes a long view of history to overcome this kind of disillusionment. What's needed is the same monumental patience that Soviet Russia shows in its economic rivalry with the West, in its determined effort to set the pattern for the newly industrializing nations.

That is why Professor Walt Rostow of the Massachusetts Institute of Technology has argued convincingly, in his Stages of Economic Growth, that the central challenge of the present time is that of creating, in association with the less economically developed countries, a partnership which will see them through into sustained growth on a political and social basis which keeps open the possibilities of progressive democratic development.

The Packack

Brittle and Skinny

By GREGORY CLARK

THERE was a fashion show in the restaurant on the roof of one of the big department stores, where I usually lunch. There were 20 or 30 beautiful models parading not only down a central catwalk but in and around the tables of the dining room. The thing that struck me was the sameness in the shape of the models. They were all frail, fragile, rather brittle-looking girls. Well, to be frank, they were skinny and underfed. Not one of them bore any likeness to the hundreds, no the thousands of girls and women that crowded the big store as customers and clerks, or swarmed on the streets.

My wife and a couple of waitresses tried to explain to me that the purpose of models was to show off the clothes, and to inspire in the minds of the female audience the notion that that is what they would look like in those clothes.

As a slight bow in the direction of reality, two or three of the models were not girls but women in their 30s or early 40s, showing off what matrons should wear. But they, too, were brittle, lean and flat.

I venture the opinion that some couturier could have a thundering success by staging a fashion show with real-life girls and women doing the parade: normal, round, short, tall, fat, lean, lumpy, bunched average. The only people you see everywhere.

Ireland

It's All True

By CASSANDRA, from Tralee

WHEN I first went to Siam, I was delighted and relieved to see a Siamese cat. He was tethered to a stake with a collar round his neck—a practice rightly abominated in the cat world—but the fact that Siamese cats do live in Siam bolstered my faith in the order of things.

So today, in Tralee, I was equally fortified to see a rose.

In fact, there are sprays and clusters of roses round the grey stone houses of this ancient town.

When William Muirhead wrote "The Rose of Tralee," more than 100 years ago, he was not referring directly to floral beauty but to the charms of a certain Irish lass. I report to you that the girls here are uncommonly handsome, too. Thus, the well-regulated pattern of seeing what you expect is made plain.

I like it that way. Life is too full of surprises: like polar bears in the Congo.

Ireland is laughably like the traditional Ireland of the stage and screen.

Irishmen too have Long Upper Lips. In fact, I recommend to those two master cartoonists, Low and Gills, who excel in drawing Irishmen, that they come to Kerry—because I suspect they are getting the length of their Irish upper lips on the short side.

The shamrock DOES grow here.

Ireland, too, is full of donkeys. On a day's drive, with nothing better to do, I counted them. The score was 93 as dusk came. The Irish must like donkeys, and they are right to do so.

An Irish ass is anything but an ass. It is a dignified beast of great character.

Religion, Bingo

The reason is, I suspect, that the Irish, who are so deeply religious, remember the fact that the Lord Jesus rode on the back of an ass. Hence their regard for the animal.

Religion attracts the Irish in the same way as the Goddess, baneful activities of bingo, football pools, and the telly captivate the heathen English.

The other day I was passing through Donegal, Fermanagh, Sligo, Mayo and Galway. In every village the whole of the able-bodied population was on its way to church. On foot, by bicycle, on donkey cart, and by automobile, they were setting about their devotions. I should say that, in these parts, at any rate, the Irish were more Roman Catholic than the Italians.

When the Mass was over, the whole male population in Galway town seemed to repair to the pub. At one moment the place was empty. The next moment it was jammed to capacity with thirsty worshippers. Scores of thickset, black-haired, dark-eyed men were jabbering joyfully and drinking determinedly as if all their sins had been washed away.

Outside in the rather superior lounge were two good-looking, animated, priests. It always pleases me to see priests with the publicans and sinners.

An amiable priest with a large branny beard so much better equipped to fight the Devil than a holy man armed only with a cup of tea and a bun.

Time Isn't Money

The Irish in their native land have a profound disregard of time. Time is not money to them. It is the distance between two points in which to enjoy yourself.

I went into a shop at Tuam to buy a postcard.

The local Rose of Tralee, who was behind the counter, was engaged in an animated conversation with a lady customer about how to make a dress.

I stood there a full two minutes waving my postcard and proffering my money. No notice at all was taken. This, I am sure, was no rudeness. It was the placing of first things first—in this case, the out of the dress taking priority over someone wanting to buy something.

Probably it is better that way.

There is also a simplicity about the whole thing. In the same way that I was glad about the "Rose of Tralee," I saw a further very uncomplicated thing that was gratifying.

The scene was a field—a piece of bog, rather, surrounded by a stone dyke. In the middle was a cow. Just one cow. Seated beside it was an old man milking the cow. Just that. If you want milk—just go to the cow. That's all.

Long live St. Patrick.

The Gun

Since there has been so much talk about the nine o'clock gun I felt that I should convey my views on the subject.

It is the most soul-shattering thing that could happen to a person every day in this area. My guests in this rest-home just shudder... I really think there could be a more modernistic and quiet way of letting the people of Victoria know it's nine o'clock, than staring us all out of our wits as it has been doing. Also I do believe it has a detrimental effect on the foundations and the structures of the buildings in the close vicinity.

(Mrs.) SHEILA E. HOBBS.

A Pleasure

Having lived away from Great Britain and Canada for many years, may I say it is indeed a pleasure to observe the courtesy (non-superficial) and dignity of the policemen, bus operators and postmen who seem to remain so despite their awkward hours.

VERNA C. NICHOLSON.

Realistic

To oppose Britain's entry into the Common Market is not being anti-British, but is factual. If Britain joins it could be disastrous, not only to herself, but to the Commonwealth as well.

Public, Governments Pushing Economy To Record Growth

OTTAWA (CP)—The nation's economy quickened during the second quarter of 1961 under the impetus of higher spending by consumers and governments.

Gross national product—total value of goods and services produced—hit an annual rate of $36,280,000,000, up 1.7 per cent from the first quarter, the Dominion Bureau of Statistics said Thursday.

CLOSE TO PEAK

Renewal of growth, following a decline of more than two per cent in the first quarter, pushed national output near the peak rate of $36,435,000,000 in the last quarter of 1960.

Consumer spending, reversing the first-quarter downturn, advanced 1 1/2 per cent, with sizeable gains in purchases of cars and other durable goods. Expenditures by governments on goods and services rose nearly three per cent.

VERY LIMITED

Business investment in new plants and equipment declined, as did new housing. Business inventories were built up "to a very limited extent."

Wheat Sales

Trade Deficit Trimmed By Canada

OTTAWA (CP)—Rising exports, paced by big new wheat sales, trimmed Canada's deficit on international payments to $322,000,000 in the second quarter of the year—lowest for the period since 1955.

The deficit on merchandise trade—excess of imports over exports—shrank to $42,000,000 during April-June from $187,000,000 a year earlier, the Dominion Bureau of Statistics said Thursday.

But the nation's international deficit on "invisible" items such as tourist spending and dividend payments to foreign investors fell again.

Second-quarter deficit was $281,000,000 compared with $283,000,000 a year earlier.

Total balance of payments deficit of $323,000,000 for the quarter compared with $470,000,000 a year earlier.

This brought the total deficit for the first half of the year to $670,000,000, compared with $791,000,000 a year earlier.

The deficit was financed by inflows of foreign capital, with long-term capital inflows covering 78 per cent of the second-quarter deficit.

Mungo's Kin Fearful

Icy winter weather would threaten the health of 84-year-old Chief Mungo Martin if he goes to New York to carve publicly totem poles in Times Square, anxious relatives said here yesterday.

The chief indicated a reluctant willingness to carve poles in New York to publicize Seattle's Century 21 Exposition. Mungo Martin's granddaughter, Mrs. Helen Hunt, said various members of the family have expressed fears for the chief's health.

Mrs. Hunt, who served as interpreter for the chief during a visit to England in July, 1958, also wondered who would translate for him in New York and she thought he would be lonely without his relatives.

VANCOUVER (CP)—Charles A. Banks, 77-year-old retired mining magnate and a former lieutenant-governor of British Columbia, died at his West Vancouver home early Thursday.

Mr. Banks, who served as lieutenant-governor from 1946 to 1950, had been in ill health since retiring two years ago as chairman of the board of Placer Development Ltd., a mining company with subsidiaries around the world.

CAME ON VISIT

New Zealand born, Mr. Banks first came to B.C. in 1912 on a visit, and after serving with the Royal Engineers in the First World War, returned to make the province his home. During the Second World War he represented the Canadian department of munitions and supply in Britain.

QUIT EARLY

At the time of his appointment as lieutenant-governor he was better known in London and San Francisco financial circles than in B.C. He quit the vice-regal post two years ahead of schedule to devote more time to the mining and oil interests which made him a millionaire.

BOUGHT PLANES

It was in 1925 he formed Placer Development in association with Australian lawyer William Freeman. In the early 1930s he purchased several old German planes from the First World War and used the machines to fly equipment and supplies into the gold-rich head-hunting country of New Guinea, where he set up the Bulolo Gold Dredging Company.

CLOSURE FORCED

Bulolo became a spectacular producer. It had yielded an estimated $45,000,000 in gold by the time Japanese bombers attacked and forced closure of the site in 1942. After the war

Mr. Banks had the mines repaired and reopened. The holding has since been sold by the parent Placer Development Company.

The mining magnate is survived by his widow. Funeral arrangements will be announced later.

Health Insurance Law Douglas' Farewell Gift

REGINA (CP)—Premier T. C. Douglas, aiming at setting up a medical care plan in Saskatchewan before he leaves provincial politics in November, said Thursday he is confident the province will have a medical care insurance program in operation early in 1962.

He said the interim report of an advisory committee on medical care, released Wednesday, will form the basis of legislation to be introduced at a special session of the legislature opening Oct. 11.

Mr. Douglas, national leader of the New Democratic Party, will resign as premier at the CCF provincial convention in Regina Nov. 13.

The report recommended a comprehensive, compulsory scheme of medical care for most of the province's 930,000 residents, paid by yearly personal premiums and nominal utilization fees and supplemented by public funds.

Closer Ties Next Year For Brokers

MONTREAL (CP)—Closer ties between the stock exchanges of Montreal and Vancouver were forecast Thursday for next year.

Eric Kierans, president of the Montreal and Canadian stock exchanges here, met William Spence, president of the Vancouver exchange's governing committee and John Van Laven, executive vice-president of the Vancouver exchange.

Mr. Kierans said the exchanges will handle more of each other's securities in a "twining" arrangement such as the Montreal and Boston exchanges agreed on last year.

"We want to arouse the investors' interest by making it easy to buy securities from any part of the country."

Scandinavian Harmony Hailed

OSLO, Norway (UPI)—Secretary of Labor Arthur Goldberg said he is impressed by the co-operation between management and trade unions in Scandinavia and will work for similar aims on his return.

"I would like to explain to our employers and unions the benefits of continuous contacts which exist in Scandinavia between employers and trade unions," he said.

Family service counsellors come to the aid of thousands of Canadian families in difficulties every year. Give generously to the United Appeal.

'Lady Chatterley's Lover' Before High Court Soon

OTTAWA (CP)—Two controversial legal issues—one whether a married man with which could have widespread repercussions to all of Canada—come before the fall term of the Supreme Court of Canada opening next Tuesday.

The two cases head a list of 44 appeals which will be heard by the nine-member court, 18 from the western provinces and 16 from Quebec.

The issue in dispute in the main case affecting Quebec is whether a married man with which could have widespread repercussions to all of Canada—come before the fall term of the Supreme Court of Canada opening next Tuesday.

The case with implications in all provinces involves distribution and sale in Canada of D. H. Lawrence's novel 'Lady Chatterley's Lover'. The court will decide if the book should be banned in this country on grounds it is obscene under the criminal code.

Three Montreal newspaper dealers will appeal against Quebec court decisions that a U.S. company's unexpurgated paperback edition of 'Lady Chatterley's Lover' represents an undue exploitation of sex.

The rulings of the Quebec courts apply only in Quebec. But the decision of the Supreme Court of Canada will apply to the entire country as it will be a judgment in federal criminal law.

250,000 Swedes Pay Homage

STOCKHOLM (AP)—More than 250,000 Swedes in a silent, moving spectacle paid tribute Thursday night to Dag Hammarskjold, their fellow countryman who lost his life on a quest for peace.

Hammarskjold's body arrived earlier Thursday in a flag-draped coffin at the airport whence he departed eight years ago to become secretary general of the United Nations. He was killed Sept. 18 in a plane crash in the African bush.

Funeral services will be today at the university town of Uppsala.

"Nothing like this has ever happened in Stockholm before," a veteran police official commented. "Just look . . . in four huge columns, men, women and children streamed into the old Gaerdet parade grounds."

At the head of each column marched Swedish UN soldiers followed by more troops carrying the flags of other nations. One flag was that of the Soviet Union whose premier once called Hammarskjold "this lucky of the colonist powers whose hands stream with the blood of Lumumba."

Behind the soldiers trudged laborers, businessmen, housewives, civil servants, athletes, doctors, students and children.

Flaming torches were carried by hundreds of the marchers whose ranks totalled about one-fourth of this city's 1,000,000 population.

Mollet Calls for Unity In Case de Gaulle Goes

PARIS (Reuters)—Socialist party leader Guy Mollet called yesterday for grouping of all "real democrats" in France in case President Charles de Gaulle was assassinated and there was an attempt to seize power.

Mollet launched a full-scale attack on the government and on de Gaulle for what he called de Gaulle's errors in foreign policy and in the handling of the Algerian insurrection.

Mollet, a former premier, said "we must prove to France that it is possible to govern France with or without de Gaulle."

Cannibalism Rife In Big Congo Camp

Katanga Offers Aid

JOHANNESBURG, South Africa (Reuters)—Katanga Health Minister J. A. Mwewa said today the breakaway Congo province was prepared to negotiate a financial agreement with the Congolese central government.

"We are prepared to give economic aid to our brothers in the rest of the Congo," said the minister, who has been on a four-day visit to South Africa.

Mwewa, speaking before leaving for Elisabethville, the Katanga capital, added: "I must emphasize, however, that Katanga is not prepared to enter any other agreement with the Leopoldville government, and we are not prepared to budge one inch on the question of our independence."

ELISABETHVILLE (AP)—Riots in the big Baluba refugee camp here and clashes between tribesmen and United Nations troops trying to keep order have caused about 60 deaths in the camp, a UN physician reported Thursday.

The physician said he was unable to give an exact death figure. He said some were victims of cannibalism.

The camp houses approximately 30,000 Balubas who fled their homes in Elisabethville during recent fighting for fear of inter-tribal warfare.

The United Nations and Katanga province officials discussed ways of returning them to their homes.

In Elisabethville yesterday about 150 Belgian women and children flew out aboard Belgian planes. They were taken to the airport under a UN armored car escort. Other Belgians are leaving by road into Northern Rhodesia.

Vice Ring Link Probed Following Girls' Arrest

CLEVELAND (AP)—Police and FBI agents Thursday were investigating what they described as a possible Canadian link in an international white slavery ring using Cleveland as a source of girls.

Two girls, 19 and 19, who said a woman had sent them to Toronto to engage in prostitution, set off the investigation, said Sgt. Sam Levy of the vice squad.

The girls told police arrangements were made Monday night for them to fly to Toronto to meet a man who would establish them in a vice resort. They said the plane landed in London, Ont., on the way. Immigration authorities became suspicious and ordered them to return to Cleveland.

Police were led by the girls to the woman identified as Miss Eileen Reddon, 37, who has a previous police record, including prostitution.

Sgt. Levy said she was held for investigation.

Police arrested the girls Wednesday night after detectives recognized them as missing persons.

Economic Strife Led to Syria Revolt

By JOHN EARLE

LONDON (Reuters) — Economic discontent in Syria has been one of the fundamental causes of the Syrian military revolt against the United Arab Republic.

Reports reaching here from the Middle East said that, rather than personal differences between Syrian strongman Col. Abdel Hamid Serraj and Egyptian rulers of the UAR, was the most important element in the situation.

Though political union between Egypt and Syria is 3½ years old, Syria's economy and financial system have not been merged with those of Egypt.

The reports, believed reliable, said popular discontent was mounting as a result of the failure of the government's agricultural policy, aggravated by a bad drought.

The business class in Syria, was furthermore, antagonized by the decision of the UAR in July to nationalize a half share in private businesses in both the Egyptian and Syrian regions, the report said.

In what was seen as a move to control mounting Syrian opposition, UAR President Nasser abolished the two regional governments of Egypt and Syria and brought Damascus directly under Cairo slightly more than a month ago.

Far-reaching plans are in existence for industrializing Syria and raising the standard of living.

In 1958, before Syria on its own initiative merged with Egypt, it signed a large-scale agreement with Russia for economic co-operation and development.

More recently, Nasser has been turning to Western countries to help in Syria's economic development.

Green Light For Irish

NEW YORK (UPI) — A traffic light on Tipperary Hill in Syracuse, N.Y., is the only one in the state which wears the green light above the red.

It was explained yesterday that Tipperary Hill is an Irish neighborhood and that when the red light was over the green children threw stones at it.

U.S. Plans Venus Probe In Middle of Next Year

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Space Agency yesterday announced plans to launch a 400-pound spacecraft "to the vicinity of Venus" with an Atlas-Agena B rocket in mid-1962.

The agency said it is hoped to get the Agena's payload within 35,000 to 40,000 miles of the bright planet, which is now shining in the east as the "morning star." It is about 26,000,000 miles from the earth. The Russians launched a 1,415-pound spacecraft last Feb. 12 which they calculated would come within 62,500 miles of Venus. They lost radio contact with the probe, however.

Next year's U.S. probe will be the first in a series designed to study Venus and Mars from a distance. Later, in 1966-67, it is hoped to land devices on the planets to find out whether they harbor life.

German Leader Stays

BONN, Germany (UPI) — Free Democratic Party leader Erich Mende last night dropped his demand that Chancellor Adenauer resign and indicated he might be willing to support him for another year.

Mende's party holds the balance of power in formation of a new West German government. Adenauer's Christian Democrats failed to win a majority in the Sept. 17 elections.

ERHARD REFUSED — The Free Democrats had made their support dependent on Adenauer's replacement by Economics Minister Ludwig Erhard, but Erhard refused to oppose Adenauer.

Mende said a coalition between the Socialists and the Christian Democrats must be prevented.

OPENED TALKS — Adenauer's political cunning apparently forced the change in Free Democratic thinking. Faced with their demand, he had opened negotiations with West Berlin Mayor Willy Brandt's Socialists.

Who's Ahead?

Is Russia ahead of the U.S. in nuclear weapons supplies? No. U.S. Defence Secretary Robert McNamara, left, said yesterday, adding the U.S. will use them to defend Berlin if hostilities break out there. Yes, replied famed physicist Dr. Edward Teller, who claimed Russia leads in both A-weapons and military preparedness.

Episcopalians Endorse Artificial Birth-Control

DETROIT (AP) — The Episcopal (Anglican) Church Thursday endorsed artificial birth-control when in "obedience to all the duties of marriage," and urged government aid to family-planning over seas.

It is the first time the 3,500,000-member denomination has officially sanctioned such practice, although it has been generally condoned in the church in recent years.

Most major Protestant bodies have taken a similar stand. In many lands, the church said, "population is increasing so fast that the survival of young and old is threatened."

Many people with personal or family problems are helped through the United Appeal.

Unbreakable Cars What Women Want

CHICAGO (UPI) — Women drivers would like cars of unbreakable plastic so they could "nudge" each other on the highway with no scratches to show for it.

Sixty-six housewives vouched for that at the fifth National Congress on Better Living. To further guard against "little denials," the women suggested eliminating fender benders altogether.

Other delegates called for waterproof car interiors and a drainpipe, "so you could just hose out the whole inside after taking the kids for a ride."

Safety belts, fore and aft, won the unanimous endorsement of the group.

CHEVY II — A NEW THRIFT CAR FROM CHEVROLET!

It's the car just about everybody's been trying to build. But it remained for Chevrolet to come through with it. Here are all the time-tested virtues you expect from Chevrolet plus surprises you've never seen. A full line of saucy new-size models built a new way for easier service and maintenance.

Chevy II doesn't stint on anything—except gasoline! Its power plants both have hydraulic valve lifters and an 8.5 to 1 compression ratio. There's Chevrolet's famous Powerglide automatic transmission available. And there's a suspension system that includes Mono-Plate Rear Springs—part of an advanced, road smoothing suspension. But high on Chevy II's list of virtues is the comfort and style that until now has been known only in cars costing much, much more! And it's yours to enjoy in all three series of Chevy IIs—in all nine models. There's the Chevy II 100 series—beauty built for every budget.

Patterson-McNeeley Fight Switched from Boston Site

BOSTON (UPI)—President of the National Sports Association of America, Nov. 20, Sports announced last night. The bout originally had been scheduled for Nov. 13 at Boston's Fenway Park, but the heavyweights, Patterson and McNeeley, have decided to switch the fight to a city of their own choosing. The bout will be held in a city of their own choosing.

OUTDOORS with Alec Merriman

Saltwater fishing effort this weekend will be divided between those seeking the big prizes in the VSIAA-Lions' Cerebral Palsy Coho Derby in Saanich Inlet and those seeking big King Fisherman Prince Crests for coho at Cowichan Bay, Sooke and Port Renfrew.

Two fishermen will concentrate on Albern Inlet for what is expected to be the last weekend of coho fishing this year. Albern Valley Trout Club will hold its annual club fish-off derby Sunday and wind up activities with a prize presentation in the evening. Good coho fishing is reported in the inlet.

Prospects look fairly bright for the coho derby in Saanich Inlet. There has been a good showing of coho in the inlet, but they haven't been too easy to catch.

Jim Gilbert reports the biggest concentrations of coho are around the Marker at Mill Bay, in Mill Bay proper down as far as the old Solartum, off Whiskey Point and at Deep Cove from the marker, down past Patricia Bay as far as Towner Park.

"There are not too many gulls working and it seems a little bit of weight is necessary with the bucktail flies—two, three, or four ounces, some even use a dodger and fly," he said. "Don't work the rod. Let it sit in the rod holder," he advises.

Art Hall says some nice springs have been caught recently off Misery Bay and Goldstream Island on medium weight tackle, 200 feet of line and one pound of weight. A few coho have been caught off the Stone House, the Deep Hole and the Marker.

Saanich Inlet coho derby will start at 6 a.m. Saturday and carry on until 2 p.m. Sunday, with prize presentations at the Anchorage at 3 p.m.

Weigh-in stations will be at Hall's, Holders and the Anchorage.

The coho salmon are still building up at the entrance to Juan de Fuca Strait, according to fisheries officials, and a good prolonged storm is needed to bring them in.

If they don't come in soon, it could develop into a real late and a real short coho season in these waters. They might push in straight for the rivers without lingering. Big question mark is where the fish heading?

The fishermen who happen to be on the water when the coho move are likely to run into some fabulous fishing, and especially big coho.

Big coho are now being caught regularly in San Juan Bay by trawlers fishing along the sandbar at the entrance to the river.

Victoria to Sooke waters can only be described as spotty, but those who hit it right get some good coho fishing. Cowichan Bay was good at the beginning of the week, fell off on Thursday with the weather change, but the coho are building up steadily and there should be good coho fishing there until the end of October.

Coho fishing continues fair at almost all east coast areas from Portler Pass right up to Campbell River.

Midweek stormy and rainy weather gives hope to deer hunters that all access gates will be open this weekend. Some were opened last Saturday, but most were closed because of fire hazard on Sunday.

Salmon River area was opened to deer hunters last weekend, but dry weather made it hard to get near the deer and 152 hunters bagged only 14 bucks and 26 grouse for a 9.2 per cent success average for the deer hunters.

Biggest deer weighed into the Victoria Fish and Game Protective Association button contest so far is a 145-pound bronze-button winner by Bill Bonar. Deer may be weighed at Ralph Wherry's, Gary Williams, or Howard and Tom Zaccarelli's. A 140 to 160-pounder wins a bronze button, a 160 to 180-pounder a silver button and more than 180 pounds a gold button. A trophy is awarded for heaviest field dressed deer.

Jim Boulding, of Strathcona Lodge, reports that fly fishing at river mouths in the Buttle-Lake area has been really hot. Deep trolling with three ounces and a Willow Leaf troll and worm has been producing limit catches in the lakes. Hunters have been having good success in the Buttle Lake area and it should get even better when snow comes.

Level of Cowichan River has come up and some nice catches have been taken. Best spots on Cowichan Lake have been the Narrows, Gordon Bay and Goat Island. Puntledge and Oyster have been good for sea-run cutthroats following the spawning salmon up the river.

No Kick-Off—Cold War

LONDON (CP)—A European Cup soccer game scheduled to have been played Thursday between Linfield, Northern Ireland and Vorwarts, East Germany, was not played because the East German team was not allowed to leave East Germany, it was reported here.

Linfield claimed the right to enter the next round of cup competition.

Seven Footballers Given $50 Fines

WINNIPEG (CP)—Seven Hamilton Tiger-Cats in Hamilton for kicking another player, fined for the Calgary Hamilton brawl were Al Schlosser, Ed O'Bradovich, Wayne Harris and John McMurtry, all of Calgary and Gerry McDougall and Don Sutherland of Hamilton.

Referee Bud Irving ejected them after a 10-minute brawl in which all players from both benches swarmed onto the field.

The donnybrook was touched off by a late Hamilton comeback which rubbed Calgary tempers the wrong way.

Hamilton eventually won the game 37-36.

The seventh fine went to Don Paquette of Montreal Alouettes who was thrown out of the Sept. 23 game against

Stampeders' Power Gets Eastern Test

TORONTO (CP)—Calgary Stampeders, who have shown signs of becoming the hottest team in the west, invade the east tonight for the first of a two-game series in the wind-up of the Canadian Football League's interlocking schedule.

Stampeders, tied for third in the CFL's western conference, came up first against the Winnipeg Blue Bombers, then beat the Argonauts, then beat the Argonauts, then beat the Argonauts.

Even a two-game sweep by Calgary would not give the west an even record in the 20-game interlocking schedule, introduced this year on a two-season trial basis. The east now leads with 10 wins against six losses with two games tied.

'Dark Motive' Denied As Tax Bill Passes

OTTAWA (UPI) — The House of Commons today passed without recorded vote the federal government's controversial new tax deal for the provinces.

The legislation, last major bill to be passed this session, now goes to the Senate for final approval.

The new Act will replace the present tax sharing agreement which expires March 31, 1962, and will run for five years as did the present one. Under it the provinces will be empowered to levy their own taxes instead of giving the major tax fields to the federal government in return for a share of the revenue.

Finance Minister Fleming said it will return to the provinces their constitutional responsibilities.

He's Got the Secret

King-size vegetation testifies to green thumb of retired shipwright E. F. Spence, 2415 Fernwood, who says secret of success is lots of humus, compost and wood ash and no chemical fertilizer. At left, Mr. Spence checks his six-year-old dahlias which towers 11 feet high, and at right, his 14-foot pampas grass. — (Colonist photo.)

Three men who played leading roles in a dramatic mine rescue operation last year were honored at a special luncheon meeting of representatives of government and B.C.'s mining industry yesterday.

Dr. Barry Flather of Newton, B.C., and George Priestler and John Johnson, both of Britannia Beach, were given an ovation from the 120 guests at the luncheon.

They also received personal congratulations from Premier W. A. C. Bennett for the rescue of miner Henry Wenzel.

trapped by a rockfall at the Britannia Mine on Howe Sound.

Dr. Flather performed a difficult amputation of the trapped miner's arm with a pair of surgical scissors while in danger himself of being entrapped by the loose rock. He was awarded the Order of the British Empire for his deed.

Both Priestler and Johnson, who were leader of the rescue team, were awarded the George Medal.

The luncheon was held in conjunction with the provincial mining conference held throughout the day.

A panel discussion centred on the merits of establishing mines in Class "A" parks. Representatives of the parks branch, mining industry and government took part.

Miners have sought legislation which would allow them to operate in park areas. The government has agreed to the proposal provided the industry would accept responsibility for such hazards as water pollution, road maintenance and forest fires.

Shareholders Choose Liquidation for Mine

VANCOUVER (CP)—Shareholders of Pacific Nickel Mines Ltd. voted at a special general meeting Thursday to place the company into voluntary liquidation. G. Nelles Stacey, a director, was named liquidator.

President Frank M. Ross said shareholders of the 23-year-old B.C. mining company will receive slightly more than $1 a share for their holdings.

The only remaining assets of the company, which recently sold its interest in its original mining property near Hope

A public showing of color slides exhibited at Victoria International Salon of Photography, will take place in the auditorium at Victoria University at 8 p.m. on Oct. 6.

New Menu Forced On Nova Scotia Jail

SYDNEY, N.S. (UPI)—Officials at Sydney city prison are making revisions in their menus to accommodate three newly-acquired Hindu prisoners.

Three Pakistani seamen, whose religious restrictions prevent them from eating Western foods, were jailed for 30 days each for failing to obey an order from Capt. P. G. Woolcot of the vessel Charlton Mira. Seamen are Hameed Noor Ali, Ayub Ahmad and Dila Mohd.

TCA Rates Cut Through Winter

Winter excursion rates have also been re-introduced by Trans-Canada Air Lines.

Victoria manager R. A. Kolb said the new rates, similar to a plan offered last year, now are lower than ever offered to the Victoria travelling public.

Effective Oct. 1 and continuing through to May 31, Victoria air travellers destined for eastern North American points will pay the same excursion fares as passengers originating in Vancouver.

The plan is applicable to travel on Mondays, Tuesdays and Wednesdays only and is valid for 24 days. It will in effect reduce fares from Victoria to eastern cities and to points in Europe and the Caribbean by $14.

For the local Victoria-Vancouver service a new winter excursion fare of $11 return, good Mondays, Tuesdays and Wednesdays and valid for 24 days, is also being introduced. This will be in addition to the popular Day-fare of $6, introduced July 1, which is valid for only one day.

Special excursion fares are

Canada's BEST selling compact... '62 FALCON

I'm 62 ways new from transmission to carburetor... with smoother shifting, quieter ride and even better economy. And as for the rest of me, they're the things that have made me the best-selling compact car in Canada. I go as much as 35 miles to the gallon on regular gas, and I now go up to 6,000 miles between oil changes. There's a new 30,000 mile or 2-year radiator coolant. My price is low. My trade-in value is highest of any compact in Canada. And my brand-new brother is here, too... Falcon FUTURA... with new interior luxury appointments, including a smart console compartment between the new bucket seats. Now we're here you'd better come see us fast—before the line up's too long. And Ford Dealers give a 12-month or 12,000-mile warranty, whichever comes first.

'62 FALCON FUTURA... Compact cousin of the Thunderbird... with individually adjustable bucket seats... a handy console compartment between the seats for gloves, camera, sunglasses and other personal effects... sleek new outside trim. That's '62 Falcon Futura—an exciting new approach to compact travel.

Chamber Unveils Objective

Bastion Square Pivot of 'Old Town' Victoria

By IAN STREET

A Chamber of Commerce committee will draw specific plans for the future development of Bastion Square as the nucleus of "old town" Victoria, a spokesman said yesterday.

Committee chairman Dr. Hugh Borsman said the proposed development would be submitted to Chamber directors for endorsement before being passed on to city council and the provincial government.

Dr. Borsman said, in answer to merchants of the area who objected to his description of Bastion Square as "rundown and . . . decrepit," that the business firms had not so far been approached by the committee because it had no plans to go on.

He said the committee would prepare an architect's sketch of what might be done with the area. Tentative plans include a multi-tiered parking garage on the waterfront linked to Bastion Square by a pedestrian "skyway" spanning Wharf Street.

A roof garden and restaurant could be developed above the parking facilities, the chairman said.

Dr. Borsman said a recent survey made on behalf of the committee showed several handicraft stores, two restaurants including one backed by Vancouver interests, specialty stores, antique shops and photo supply houses were interested in locating in the area.

"But first we have got to show them that the city is interested in bringing traffic to the area," he said. "We have to make the move good business."

The chairman said the committee was prepared to make some representations to city council before the final decision was made on location of new downtown parking facilities.

The provincial government would also be urged to spend some money on restoration of the old courthouse after it is vacated early next year.

Many Firms Interested

Tatlow Story

Cloak of History Lifted a Little From Noisy Gun

At least one person in the Greater Victoria area knows a bit of history behind the firing of the noon and 9 p.m. gun at Work Point.

Mrs. F. V. Cornwall, 4025 Locarno Lane, read a Colonist story saying the firing had become such a daily routine that military and civic officials no longer know how or when the custom originated.

She said yesterday she knows it was fired as early as the year 1879 because her father used to load the gun. The same man later became provincial minister of finance and agriculture.

INTO ROWBOAT

Mrs. Cornwall recalled that her father, the late R. G. Tatlow, used to tell her when she was a child that he came to Victoria as a captain in "B" Battery of the Royal Canadian Artillery.

One of Capt. Tatlow's jobs during the year 1879 was to climb into a rowboat every day and row out to Brother Islands near the entrance to Esquimalt harbor to load a gun there which fired from shore at 9 p.m., said Mrs. Cornwall.

BLAST INTENSITY

She said her father never told her why the gun was fired at that time of day.

Attention was drawn to the 9 p.m. gun recently by a number of local residents who complained about the intensity of the blast. Army officials later said they would try to reduce the noise.

Burn Up Leaves In Yard

Leaf burning time is at hand and residents have been warned by local fire chiefs to use care.

Habit of many home owners is to rake the leaves off the property onto the road and burn them there. Since the burning is on a hardtop surface this may seem safe—but it is illegal.

Oak Bay has a specific law against burning on streets. In Victoria, Esquimalt and Saanich, burning of any trash, including leaves, is governed by permits that specify the fire must be on private property.

Population Bomb 'Worst Menace'

The confusing welter of world population statistics contains an urgent and ominous message for people of highly populated countries such as Canada.

This opinion was expressed last night by Victoria physician Dr. Hugh Borsman to the Oak Bay Kiwanis Club in a carefully documented talk on the world population explosion.

The fuse to ignite the population bomb, said Dr. Borsman, was ignited far back in the depths of the industrial revolution when men struck out in search of new lands.

FOUR BILLION

By 1980, Dr. Borsman forecast, some 3,000,000,000 of the staggering total of 4,000,000,000 people will be living in Asia and Africa. This will be an increase of 25 per cent over the present population total.

Holland, he said, supports 905 people on every square mile of land. Japan supports 655, Canada 4.7 and Australia 3.4.

While he does not envision an eventual sardine-like condition with one person to a square yard—malnutrition will take its toll before then—he does see the population explosion and the attendant political jockeying as the great menace of the age.

Lions' Lantern Festival

Once-a-Year Day Coming Up For City's Busy Chinatown

By JACK PEY

High-necked, Oriental sheath dresses will be the style worn by many Chinese girls during the annual Lantern Festival at the Sirocco Club Oct. 19.

The festival is sponsored by the Victoria (Chinatown) Lions Club.

It is a once-a-year day for Chinese, mostly second and third generation Canadians, to show their neighbors the traditional Chinese way of life while raising money for Lions Club activities.

Stalls filled with Chinese home cooking, sewing, crafts and ornaments will be open to the public from 2 to 5 p.m. and 7 to 11 p.m.

The Sirocco Club will be transformed into a colorful Oriental bazaar. There will be lanterns, streamers and throngs of people milling about stalls filled with exotic fruits and ginger.

Working bees are held late into the night as workers put finishing touches on a wide variety of handcraft items which will be sold.

LONG GOWN

Door prizes will also be offered, including a teakwood coffee table, Corning ware set, woolen goods, a breakfast set, coffee set and leather wallet.

Though most Chinese girls here wear the same type of clothing as other girls, for the festival they will wear the traditional "cheongsam" or "long gown" which was introduced to women of China centuries ago during the Manchu dynasty.

FOR MODESTY

A slit up each side of the skirt assures "ease of movement and endows the basically simple cheongsam with a touch of intrigue," said a fashion expert. "The shoulders and neck must be covered for modesty reasons."

Residents could be given a special sticker to allow them unrestricted parking.

On streets fronted by government offices, he suggests prohibiting parking except to visitors to government offices, with a one-hour limit.

"It is felt these measures will relieve congestion, improve safety and reduce the expense of administration of the parking regulations near the legislative buildings," said Mr. Carey.

Parking Lot Proposed

L. W. Nole has applied at City Hall for a permit to establish a parking lot for 25 cars belonging to civil servants on the south side of Kingston between Menzies and Oswego.

suffer through the use of their road frontage by the 1,000 or so civil servants vehicles," Mr. Carey said. "Civil servants are also citizens, residents and taxpayers."

He suggests the city remove blanket restrictions from streets where unrestricted parking would not block access by visitors or owners to private homes.

On streets occupied by private homes, Mr. Carey suggests parking restrictions on one side only, with a half-hour limit.

Civil Servant Suggests Parking Issue Solution

A civil servant has offered his solution to a parking problem created by government employees and protested by city property owners four months ago.

Davis M. Carey, 2016 Romney Road, a forester in the B.C. Forest Service, said many city parking restrictions have for many years "constituted persecution of motorist-civil servants."

He said unnecessary parking restrictions along both sides of many streets force civil servants to park close to their offices so they can periodically move their cars to avoid tickets.

Who's Eccentric?

'King' Scott Challenges A Pretender

By ED COBGRIVE

Victoria's "king of the eccentrics" yesterday challenged newspaper columnist James K. Nesbitt as a pretender to the crown.

Lighthouse philosopher W. A. Scott, seething over a Colonist account of Mr. Nesbitt's eccentricities, challenged the historian-writer to a "no holds barred" debate in Beacon Hill Park.

The subject: "Eccentricity—an acquired art or a natural talent?"

Mr. Scott's cerebral explosion came after reading an account of a speech made by Mr. Nesbitt to the Victoria branch of the B.C. Historical Association in which he extolled eccentricity as an asset to the community. What is success in terms of eccentricity? he was asked.

"Bertrand Russell is a success. The chief contribution an eccentric can make to a community is to shock people into thinking."

When does one know he has been admitted to the inner circle of eccentricity?

"It is a loosely knit organization . . . a very small, select club, but one knows by the attitude of the people and the newspapers," explained Mr. Scott.

"For instance . . . there's no doubt in your mind about me, is there?"

King Fisherman

Husband, Wife Both Winners?

For the first time in the history of The Daily Colonist King Fisherman contest, a husband and wife fishing team is in line for two of the major honors. (Entries, Page 27.)

A couple of weeks ago Mrs. Emma Ross of Port Renfrew went out in San Juan Bay, a couple of hundred yards from her home, and caught a 67-lb. pound spring salmon to take the lead in that division.

SAME WATERS

Her husband Ralph went out in the same waters Tuesday and caught a 19.5-pound coho salmon, which qualifies him as leading island coho fisherman and leading Colonist subscriber coho fisherman.

Mrs. Ross stands to win a Youngtown food waste disposer unit, to be donated by W. R. Menzies Co.—Their home at Port Renfrew is slated to get electric power this year and a handsome King Fisherman trophy.

Mr. Ross could win a Viking outboard motor, to be donated by T. Eaton Co. for the subscriber with the biggest coho and a King Fisherman trophy for the Colonist subscriber with the biggest coho.

Jim Cooper of New Westminster, a non-subscriber, caught a 20-10-pound coho at Bates Beach, but can only win King Fisherman trophy and Prince Crest.

Port Renfrew area now holds three of the leading spots in the King Fisherman contest. Dave Harding, 4024 Granville, caught the biggest lake trout entered so far, an 8.5-pounder from Lizard Lake.

Thieves Think Twice Send Back Their Loot

Thieves had second thoughts about $440 in camera equipment stolen recently from a car owned by R. O. Travers, 1150 Begbie.

Mrs. N. Lovrod, 1907 Belmont, phoned police to come and pick up a camera outfit which had been thrown onto the front porch of her home.

The equipment was recovered intact and returned to the rightful owner.

Jaycees Eye Trekka

The brave little yacht Trekka, which bobbed her way 33,000 miles around the world with one man on board, still has a chance of being enshrined in her home port of Victoria.

The Junior Chamber of Commerce has referred to its executive a motion that the Jaycees spearhead a drive to raise $4,000 for purchase of the boat, which would probably then be turned over to the B.C. Maritime Museum.

LARGER CRAFT

Trekka is up for sale for $4,750 at San Pedro, Calif. Her skipper-owner John Guzzwell, who wants to build a larger craft in England, has indicated he would deliver the 20-foot yacht to Victoria for $4,000.

Although the Jaycee executive will have to report its findings to the general membership, decision on whether that group will sponsor a save-the-Trekka fund will probably be known after Tuesday night's executive meeting.

Elderly Driver Injured

A two-car crash at Cook and North Park yesterday sent an elderly driver to hospital.

James E. Glenn, 68, 1280 Gladstone, was transferred from Royal Jubilee Hospital to Veterans' Hospital after a checkup. He suffered shock.

Police said the other car was driven by Helen Rhodes, 1815 Cook Street.

Monstrous Tile's Mentor 'Should Have Head Read'

Peter Bruton's NOTEBOOK

ANOTHER VIEW: Former Speaker in the B.C. legislature, Tom Irwin, visited the buildings yesterday and was thunderstruck.

Aghast at the lino tile floors outside his former office, he said "Whoever thought up this monstrous piece of vandalism should have his head read."

Mr. Irwin just couldn't believe his eyes.

"They might just as well take off the copper sheathing from the domes of the buildings, remove the domes and make the buildings look like a mental institution—which perhaps it is," he said.

"If I had been here this never would have happened. As soon as they tried to lift one tile I would have stopped them. Vandalism, that's what it is."

CAT-HAPPY: There's a

mighty upset little youngster out at Belmont Park who is pining for her kitten, missing these past few days.

The SPCA won't help because it says Belmont Park is out of its jurisdiction.

What makes it worse is that the family is convinced the kitten is being held against its will in a neighborhood house, yet the people there claim they haven't seen it. Other people have.

THE CHANGING TIMES:

One of this year's new-model automobiles is equipped with automatic transmission. For just a few dollars more you can have a standard gear shift.

UPPER CLASS: The found-

ing convention of the New Democratic Party in Vancouver late next month was to be held at a Legion hall but a recent check showed it was being turned into a roller rink. The CCFers had to look for a last-minute change of venue.

Their choice: The Bayshore Inn, a new luxury hotel.

Odd thing about it all is that the Bayshore is cheaper.

And pity the CCF.

The 16 CCF members of the legislature couldn't go to the national founding convention of the NDP because the Social Credit government called a special legislative session for Aug. 1.

Now the Socreds have called their provincial convention for the same identical weekend as the New Democratic Party provincial convention.

ACCESS DENIED: A deputy ministerial committee which has been investigating the problems of public access to radian delegation on the Inter-logging roads in B.C. has filed its report with the provincial access in Indo-China. He will be accompanied by Lt.-Cmdr. Wilson F. Johnson of Victoria. Bev won't be able to do much fishing there! . . . Four Emily Carr paintings from the William Newcombe collection now are hanging in the office of Prominent B.C. politician.

BRIEFLY NOTED: A reader reports overhearing a conversation in the five and dime that Premier Bennett has received a "stupendous" offer to head a large financial house in New York. This we doubt!

Lt.-Cmdr. Beverly Gillespie, well known here from the days when he served as dispenser of navy publicity on this coast, has been appointed to the Canadian delegation on the Inter-logging roads in B.C. has filed its report with the provincial access in Indo-China. He will be accompanied by Lt.-Cmdr. Wilson F. Johnson of Victoria. Bev won't be able to do much fishing there! . . . Four Emily Carr paintings from the William Newcombe collection now are hanging in the office of Pro-

British Woollen Fashions

This typically all-purpose English coat in off-putting tweed has a shaded magog check over the autumn-leaf colors of the fabric. Under it, a tailored British tweed shirt-waister has a double box-pleated skirt.

In bottle-green and tan Paisley with a fine wool-jersey weave, this Susan Small autumn-winter dress is swathed to one side to emphasize the French-pleated skirt.

Lachasse used a $14,400 hat brooch to set off his big-collared winter overcoat in looped British wool. The coat, called the "Carla," has one high-placed pocket as a feature.

For Family's Health

What Do YOU Know About Vitamins

By PATRICIA MCCORMACK, NEW YORK (UPI) — How much do you know about minerals and vitamins—what they do and to what extent they occur naturally in foods you prepare every day?

This homemaker thought she knew all there "was to know"—until forced to review the situation when a member of the household developed a vitamin deficiency.

What was learned is worth sharing with those who want to brush up on the subject with an eye to being better in the kitchen.

Generally, a vitamin is defined as any of a group of accessory organic substances existing in most foods in minute amounts in their natural state.

What's mysterious about vitamins is that some unknown substance in the stomach seems necessary to activate them. What's not mysterious: the absence of a vitamin or two in sufficient amounts can result in malnutrition and specific deficiency diseases. Consider these capsules:

Vitamin B-12 helps prevent certain forms of anemia and contributes to health of nervous system and proper growth in children. It's found in liver, kidney, milk, salt-water fish, oysters, lean meat, foods of animal origin in general.

Folic acid helps prevent certain forms of anemia and is essential for integrity of the intestinal tract.

It is found in leafy green vegetables, food yeast, meat. Panthemic acid is essential for synthesis of adrenal hormones, the health of the nervous system and production of antibodies. It is present in all plant and animal tissues.

Niacin is necessary for converting food to energy. It aids the nervous system and helps prevent loss of appetite. It is found in lean meats, liver, dried yeast, enriched cereals, enriched bread, eggs.

Vitamin C is essential for healthy teeth, gums and bones. It builds strong body cells and blood vessels. It is found in citrus fruits, berries, tomatoes, cabbage, green vegetables, peppers, new potatoes.

Vitamin A is important for normal growth in children, necessary for good vision, essential for healthy skin, eyes and hair. It is found in milk, butter, fortified margarine, eggs, liver and kidney. The body also makes its own vitamin A from foods containing carotene—leafy green and yellow vegetables.

Vitamin B-1 is necessary for proper function of heart and nervous system. Early signs of deficiency include loss of appetite, constipation, insomnia, irritability. Also called thiamine, this vitamin is required to obtain energy from food. It is found in enriched cereals and bread, fish, lean meat, liver, milk, pork, poultry, dried yeast.

Vitamin B-2 is necessary for healthy skin. It helps prevent sensitivity of the eyes to light and is essential for building and maintaining body tissues. It is found in eggs, enriched bread and cereals, leafy green vegetables, lean meats, liver, dried yeast, milk.

Vitamin B-6 is important for healthy teeth and gums, the health of the blood vessels, the red blood cells and the nervous system. It's found in wheat germ, vegetables, dried yeast, meat and whole grain cereals.

Vitamin D is necessary for strong teeth and bones. It is found in fortified milk, cod liver oil, salmon, tuna, egg yolk.

Vitamin E is essential for integrity of red blood cells. It is found in vegetable oils, wheat germ, whole grain cereals, lettuce.

Vitamin K is necessary for normal blood clotting. It is found in leafy vegetables.

Your Problems

By Ann Landers

Dear Ann Landers: What can I do about a husband who has had $30 worth of illegal parking tickets to pay in five weeks?

The worst of it is he hides the tickets in odd places and when I find them they are unpaid and overdue. When I read the riot act he says he's always been this way and he doesn't think he will ever be any different. He brags that he has never had an accident or been nicked for a moving violation.

I asked him how he got away with this before we married and he said he used to hide the tickets in funny places and when his mother found them, she paid them.

Please tell me what I can do. I didn't know I married a filibuster. —SURPRISED

Dear Surprised: Junior is still playing "Hide the Easter egg"—only he's using parking tickets. Tell him the hunt is over and from now on when you run into a ticket you're going to ignore it. And tell him, too, that when the cop appears with the summons there will be no place to hide.

Dear Ann Landers: No one I have talked to knows the answer to this. I hope you do.

I was mad at my boy friend and wrote him an angry letter. It was twelve pages of pure venom and I felt better after I got it down on paper. Then I walked to the mailbox and dropped it. I noted that the mail would be picked up the next morning at 7:20.

That night I couldn't sleep. I got to thinking about what I had written and decided I had been too hard on him. I also realized that this meant the end of our relationship and I wasn't ready for that.

The next morning I got up early and waited at the mailbox for the postman so I could retrieve my letter. Well, he refused to give it to me—said it was against the rules.

The boy friend got the letter and now we are through. I blame the postman for this. He could have given the letter back if he had wanted to, couldn't he? — MISERABLE NOW

Dear Miserable: It's against the law for the postman to "give a letter back." Once a letter is dropped into the box it becomes the responsibility of the postal authorities to effect delivery.

Let this be a lesson to you. It's good to get the anger out on paper, but "mail" the letter in your drawer until you've had time to cool off and re-read it the following day.

Dear Ann Landers: I need a clearer head and a more objective eye than my own at the minute.

A very close friend of mine recently returned from an extensive (and expensive) trip to far off places. She brought me a cheap, hideous little knick-knack that I have seen gathering dust around her own home for years. I remember it well because it was so ugly. This "gift" was beautifully wrapped in fancy paper that bore the name of a well-known, exclusive foreign shop. What shall I say to her? You can bet I am—SEETHING.

Dear Seething: Say "Thank you" and before you pop a blood vessel, consider the possibility that she liked the hideous little knick-knack so much she bought you one like it.

Confidential to Wondering Kitty of K.C.: This is a date? He loves your cooking because the price is right, Dummy.

Se learn the difference between marriage and "settling down" and that gets out. —and for Ann Landers' readers: "What To Expect From Marriage" is a new and a long, self-addressed envelope.

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of this newspaper enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Y-Teen Conference At Camp Thunderbird

One hundred Y-Teens attended a Y-Teen Conference at the YMWCA Camp Thunderbird at Sooke last weekend. Purpose of the conference was for "Preppers" to learn more about Y-Teen activities and meet other members.

Girls from Mount Douglas, Mount View, Esquimalt, Oak Bay, Milnes Landing, Victoria and Alberni District high schools attended. Miss Grace Fraser from Alberni was school advisor. Mrs. Rhona Arlett, Camp Director, gave a welcome talk to the girls, following luncheon in the dining hall.

Y-TEEN HISTORY

A general assembly was held in the afternoon with talks given by Betty Cartwright on "The History of Y-Teens in the YWCA," Margaret Garrison, Victoria Y-Teen president, on "What Y-Teens Means to You" and Lynda Jean McLean, Oak Bay president, on "The Relationship of Y-Teens to the YWCA."

The after dinner guest speaker, Mrs. Phyllis Gravely, executive director of the Women's Division of the YMWCA spoke on "Maintaining Your Balance in this Troubled World." She urged each Y-Teen to keep their faith in Christian principles and develop an inner spiritual peace.

During her visit to the United Nations Assembly, Mrs. Gravely noted particularly how many members visited the Meditation Room to pray strength to guide them in their work.

Work Shop sessions on aspects of Y-Teens were held during the weekend with Sharon Brown, Colleen Reid, Margaret Garrison, Lynda Jean McLean, Nan Elliot, and Betty Judd as discussion leaders.

OUTSIDE CHAPEL

The Sunday worship service was held in warm sunshine in the outside chapel overlooking beautiful Gilt Lake. The service was presented by Sharon McDougall, Lois Goby, Jane Turner, Candice Heath and Lynda Jean McLean.

During free time, members enjoyed swimming, boating, hikes around the lake shore and a camp-fire sing-song by the lake, lead by Margaret Garrison and Sue Basanta.

Y-Teen presidents Sharon "HE LOOKS YOUNG... SHE'S LOOKING OLDER!"

Unfair—yet how often you've heard such comments about husband-and-wife! When age begins to show in a woman's face, it's generally due to skin dryness—a condition caused by lack of natural oils and moisture. The skin coarsens, little lines and wrinkles appear. But you can treat this problem—with FORD'S DRY SKIN CREAM. This famous cream contains Allantoin—a remarkable substance that starts repair work in just 10 minutes! Allantoin floats off lifeless surface cells, opens the way for Ford's rich moisturized lanolin to penetrate deep-down. Almost overnight, your complexion becomes softer, smoother, younger-looking! Prevent skin dryout. Get FORD'S DRY SKIN CREAM. In jar or tube, wherever cosmetics are sold.

Bride Audrey Turner Designs Wedding Gown

At a double ring ceremony in Emmanuel Baptist Church recently, Audrey Bernice, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank B. Turner, Bank Street, was united in marriage with Mr. David Stuart Dawson, son of Mr. and Mrs. F. S. Dawson, St. David Street, Rev. A. C. Hamill conducted the service.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, was lovely in a floor-length gown of white delustrated satin styled with empire bodice and scooped neckline appliqued with pearl and sequin embroidered lace. The panier style chiffon overskirt was both appliqued and bordered with the same lace. The gown was designed and made by the bride. Her waist length veil was held by a rhinestone tiara and she carried a white bible topped with Johanna Hill roses. For "something borrowed" she had a rhinestone necklace belonging to the groom's mother.

Misses Suzanne McElmoyle and Barbara Dawson were bridesmaids. They wore kelly green taffeta dresses with beauteous necklines and full skirts. Their white velvet bandeaux matched their dress belts and they carried white gladioli and gladioli.

Mr. John Simpson was best man and Mr. Ralph and Keith Turner and Mr. Don Dawson showed guests to the pews.

A reception followed in the War Amps Hall where the bride's table was decorated with red rosebuds and baskets of gladioli. Mr. R. A. Thistle proposed the toast.

For a honeymoon in Seattle the bride wore a blue sheath dress with matching jacket, white velvet pill box hat and corsage of Johanna Hill roses. The young couple are now making their home at 1046 View Street.

Other new officers are: vice-president, Miss May Johnston; secretary, Miss Carol Garder; treasurer, Miss June Oliver; social convener, Miss Kathie Mannix.

It was reported that during 1960-61, the club donated more than $800 to charities, including the renovations to their sponsored cabin at Sunshine Camp, Sooke.

VETERANS WA Women's Auxiliary to the Veteran's Hospital will meet at the hospital Monday, Oct. 2 at 2 p.m.

Brown, Esquimalt; Colleen Reid, Mount Douglas; Kathy James, Mount View; Lynda Jean McLean, Oak Bay; Margaret Garrison, Victoria; Bunry Owen, Miles Landing; and acting president Doreen Hall, Port Alberni, felt the conference had been a most happy and worthwhile camp week-end.

Interested, Mothers?

There May Be Afternoon Classes in Dressmaking

This is the time of year when everybody goes back to school—mothers, too.

Greater Victoria Adult Education brochures have been perused by scores of Victoria women looking for new interests and skills.

One of the most popular series of courses offered is dressmaking, and now as the final registration date draws near, many women have been inquiring about classes not offered in the brochure.

To date, dressmaking, both elementary and advanced, is offered only in the evenings, with the exception of one morning class. The School Board may add more of these classes in the afternoon if enough interest is shown by Victoria women.

In chatting with Mrs. Chris Vogelaar and Mrs. Mimi Pomet, two dressmaking teachers, I learned that both have their four evening classes filled, but have had inquiries about afternoon classes.

If you'd like to take one of the afternoon courses, you may phone the School Board, EV 5-1411, ask for Adult Education department, give your name and phone number as well as your preference as to class and time.

If enough women reserve places for these afternoon classes, those who have phoned the above number will in turn be phoned and asked to register and send in their cheque for $15. A minimum of 15 women are needed before a class will be formed.

Editors Agree Union Label Sets Nation's Fashion Pace

Montreal—It's easy to be "dernier cri" in fashion these days.

A group of Canada's top fashion editors discovered in Montreal that there's a simple yardstick when it comes to judging the quality of clothes. The secret: just look for the Union Label.

Elizabeth Dingman, women's editor of the Toronto Telegram, summed up her opinion in the headline: "Craftsmanship—Canadian Style". Her verdict, after viewing Fall and Winter fashions from four Canadian cities, was shared by the other experts. Montreal's Le Nouveau Journal called it "The Summit of Elegance".

Luxury wears...

LABEL DENOTES QUALITY All the styles seen at the show were produced by members of the International Ladies' Garment Workers' Union, one of the oldest and most respected organizations of craftsmen in North America. All carried the Union Label to denote that they were made by skilled workers.

Gathered in the elegant Panorama Room of the Queen Elizabeth Hotel, overlooking the St. Lawrence River, the editors had an opportunity to learn what people in the trade knew right along: It's Union folks—specifically, ILGWU members—who make the difference when it comes to fashion.

Craftsmanship stole the spotlight throughout the show. Whether the garment was a line-for-line copy of a Simonetta or

High above Montreal... a fashion close-up

HOW TO TELL

An increasing number of Canadian women had been asking the question: "How does one know that a dress or a coat or a suit is well-made?" The fashion editors got the answer from Commentator Michelle Tisseyre, who's rated as one of the top experts in Canada.

Madame Tisseyre suggested there was one sure way of determining the quality of workmanship in fashion: That's to look for the Union Label. It's a tiny white-and-blue label, sewn either inside the waist or a few inches above the hem, but it tells the quality story in a nutshell. Like a picture, the Union Label is worth more than a million words.

It says you're purchasing a garment made in a shop where skilled workers outnumber apprentices 3-to-1. (How would you like

I GOT around this week to Montreal at the invitation of the International Ladies Garment Workers' Union, and saw something that made me want to cut my tongue out.

The story behind it is this: Last spring when the union label was sewn into Canadian-made dresses for the first time, a union representative told me the label was a guarantee of good working conditions and top union craftsmanship.

I take my hat off to Canadian manufacturers—and bless the union label I'll keep my tongue, though.

CANADA ETIQUETTE SYNDICALE

It is acknowledged these days that there are 101 reasons to look for the Union Label in Canadian fashions—and smart shoppers no longer take chances. Their first question to a salesgirl when they examine a coat or suit (or a dress, bathing suit or sporty item) is: "Does it have the Union Label?" If it doesn't, they buy the one that has.

After all, who wants second-best?

Health SAFEGUARD Another advantage offered the woman who looks for the Union Label is the assurance that the clothes she is buying were made under sanitary conditions. Hygiene is strictly observed in shops where the ILGWU has a contract. Too often, manufacturers who are less scrupulous have garments produced in private homes where contagious disease may exist. That can never happen with a garment that bears the Union Label, but one never knows about a garment without the label.

Consumer Warned to Watch Labels

By EDNA BLAKELY

TORONTO (CP)—With the growth of self-service, the package has become the salesman.

That is why it has become more important for the consumer to read and compare package labels, says Dr. Colston E. Warne, president of the non-profit consumers' union at Mount Vernon, N.Y.

Dr. Warne was in Toronto to address the Consumers Association of Canada. In an interview he said deceptive packaging is becoming a serious problem.

Contents of some packages had been pared down while the price remained the same or, in some cases, went up. Buyers should especially watch the weights and measures of soups, he advised.

"The housewife is facing a more complicated world. Science has made the food world, the textile world and the appliance world more complicated, and compounding the confusion is credit-buying."

CREDIT TRAPS
Some credit buying was set up "virtually as a trap for consumers" and the unwary buyer didn't get a true idea of the installments he was expected to meet. Some companies charged 40, 50 and 60 per cent interest.

"I am not disparaging credit-buying. It has its purpose. But with much more than they of people are just too busy to take things back."

A conscientious consumer studied and knew grades of goods. In canned fruit, for example, fancy and choice grades had to be almost perfect in appearance. But if the fruit was to be cooked, the standard brand, not as free of blemishes, would be just as good.

A record of prices paid for items gives the consumer a handy reference, she said.

And a good shopper also returned unsatisfactory goods or food to the store or manufacturer. If he didn't get satisfaction, he should then take it to a body such as the consumers association.

Now Is the Time For Concord

Who does not relish the snappy tang of the Concord grape when it has ripened on the vine? Knowing cooks turn practical and prudent, by hastening to the market stalls for baskets of the grapes at the peak of their goodness.

There is a stone monument in Concord, Massachusetts, which relates the history of the Concord grape with this inscription: "Ephraim Wales Bull planted seeds of a wild labrusca grape found growing on this hillside which after three generations through his work and wisdom became in this garden, September 1849, the Concord grape."

Canadians have reason to be grateful to the gentleman who developed the where-withal for one of our largest fruit industries.

GRAPE LEMON JELLY

Combine 5 pounds Concord grapes and 3 thinly sliced lemons. In a preserving kettle, bring the fruit slowly to a boil and cook it, stirring frequently, until the skins of the grapes separate from the pulp. Strain the juice through a jelly bag. Measure the juice and for each cup of juice add 1 cup sugar. Boil the mixture over high heat until it reaches the jelly stage (222° F.) or until the jelly sheets from a spoon. Pour the jelly into sterilized jars and seal them with paraffin.

CONCORD GRAPE PIE

Stem and skin 4 cups Concord grapes, reserving the skins. Cook the pulp over very low heat until the seeds loosen and force it through a sieve to remove the seeds. Combine the pulp and skins with 1 cup sugar, 1 1/2 tablespoons lemon juice, and 1 tablespoon each of grated orange rind and quick-cooking tapioca. Blend the filling thoroughly, let it stand for 5 minutes, and pour it into a 9-inch pie plate lined with flaky pie dough. Cover with a lattice topping. Bake the pie in a hot oven (400° F.) for 10 minutes, lower the heat to moderate (350° F.) and bake it for 20 minutes longer, or until it is done.

SUGARED GRAPES

Dip clusters of grapes in lightly beaten egg white, coating each grape completely. Shake off any excess egg white. Place the clusters on cake racks and sprinkle each cluster with fine granulated sugar. When the coating has set, line a serving dish with grape leaves and arrange the clusters on the leaves.

Corn Meal Turnovers Quick Dish

NEW YORK (UPI)—Corn meal turnovers make a quick and easy main dish. Sift together 1/2 cup of enriched corn meal, 2 cups of sifted all-purpose flour, 1/2 teaspoon of salt and 2 teaspoons of baking powder. Cut in 1/2 cup of shortening until mixture resembles coarse crumbs. Stir in 1 cup of milk. Mix lightly. Turn out on floured board or canvas. Knead gently several times. Divide dough in half. Roll each portion to a 6-by-18-inch rectangle. Cut each into three 6-inch squares. Cut 1 (1 pound) can of corned beef hash into 6 slices. Place slices on one corner of each turnover. Top with slice of processed cheese. Fold dough to form triangle. Seal edges, first moistening with water. Prick surface. Place on cookie sheet. Bake 12 to 15 minutes in a preheated 425-degree oven. Serve with spicy tomato sauce. Serves 6.

Suburb Sale Benefits Religion

TORONTO (CP)—A $3,000,000 Christian foundation has been operating quietly here for more than three years, it was learned Friday.

The M and P foundation, with Rev. Dr. Stewart Boehmer of Calvary Baptist Church as managing director, was formed chiefly from the proceeds of the sale of Flemington Park development in suburban Don Mills.

The 374-acre development was sold in July, 1958, for $3,000,000 by builder Robert McCintock of Toronto, the M in the name.

The P is retired construction executive C. A. Pitts, who lives in Finchhurst, N.C.

Mr. Pitts started reading the Bible after he retired and became devoutly religious after attending revival meetings headed by evangelist Billy Graham.

Mr. Graham mentioned the conversion to Dr. Boehmer, who got in touch with Mr. McCintock, an elder in Calvary church. The two builders met and the foundation was formed.

Funds are used for scholarships, religious radio and television programs and Youth for Christ movements.

Citizenship Ceremony

Former Police Chief Recalls Tough Start

Twelve New Canadians were welcomed to citizenship in this country yesterday by a man who spoke from experience when he told them of the opportunities available in their new homeland.

Speaker at ceremonies in Victoria Courthouse was Charles E. Rivett-Carnac, now retired, until recently commissioner of the Royal Canadian Mounted Police.

For those just swearing allegiance to Canada, Mr. Rivett-Carnac recalled his own start in this country.

He came here more than 40 years ago as an immigrant from England, travelling steerage. His first job was on the docks in Eastern Canada, working from 6 p.m. to 6 a.m. for 35 cents an hour.

Judge J. B. Clearhue administered the oath to: Giacomo Amarilli, 1030 North Park; Mrs. Wanda Blakowski, 3225 Eldon Place; Mrs. Anne Filippo, Sooke; Luciano Giacomo Gioia, 1271 Centre; Frank Low, 848 Balmoral; Tadeusz Milkowski, 919 Market; Mrs. Edith Plantz, 2885 Parkview; Josef and Marie Runowski, 1011 McClure; Erich Stormer, HMCS

Skyscraper Neurosis

Pox on Pigeons

MONTREAL (CP)—Pigeons who have plans for the new buildings going up on Dorchester Boulevard, Montreal's skyscraper canyon, may have to change them.

A threat to their security is taking shape in the form of a colorless, plastic strip squeezed out of a tube.

OR WHATEVER

The strip, demonstrated on top of a Montreal office building Thursday, is designed to make the pigeons neurotic—or whatever pigeons are when they feel insecure.

The only cure for the neu-rosis, say the designers, is to fly away and stay away from the ledge in question, is precisely what they hope the pigeons will do.

BIRD'S PSYCHE

Jack Fynne, special products and export manager of the British firm that designed and produced the strip, said its principle is "the feeling of insecurity it sets up in the bird's psyche."

The strip, about the diameter of a cigarette, is three-quarters of an inch from the lip of the ledge.

The pigeon alights, confident of another hospitable roost, and—what do—the ruddy ledge seems to be giving slightly under its feet. It tries to fly off and can only do so after making a super-effort.

"This greatly alarms the birds," Mr. Fynne said. "It flies off in a hurry and, so our tests prove, cannot be induced to alight again on that particular ledge."

VANCOUVER (CP)—B.C. Electric chairman Dr. Gordon Shrum gave little hope Thursday of a rate reduction in the immediate future.

Fred McClelland told the organization's annual convention the shorter work week should be instituted immediately by the legislature, with no cut in take-home pay.

McClelland also called for federal legislation to give workers four weeks' paid holidays after five years' employment. He said miners and others who work in uncongenial places should be given five weeks.

Two Detectives Named From City Police Ranks

Victoria Police Commission yesterday transferred two men from the uniform branch to the detective office, filling long-standing vacancies in that branch of the force.

Walter Calwell and James Baxter, both first-class constables, move over to the plainclothes division Sunday.

Commission approved—with reservations—a police union request to join with fire department members in staging a "family night" next spring at Memorial Arena.

Members agreed that the idea was fine, as long as it was understood the commission could not be responsible for any accidents involving personnel while taking part.

How To Increase Your Energy

Why does the busiest man need no more rest than the idler? What happens if you ignore fatigue and push on? The secret lies in simply applying an "opener" to the deeper levels of energy which we all possess. But what is this "opener"? ... and how do you use it? Read the answers of famous psychologist William James, who says: "Compared to what we ought to be, we are only half awake." You'll find his remedy, backed up by actual human experience, in "How to Increase Your Energy" in October Reader's Digest. Get your copy today!

Here's Real Incentive

King Fisherman anglers have been giving Saanich Inlet a workout in the past few days to find out where the coho are before Saturday and Sunday's Cerebral Palsy coho derby.

Every salmon weighing more than five pounds may be entered in the King Fisherman contest, as well as the coho derby which will be jointly sponsored by the Victoria-Saanich Inlet Anglers' Association and the Victoria Lions Club.

As a special incentive to once-in-a-while fishermen the derby committee has arranged for 20 hidden weight prizes, including a rubber-tired wheelbarrow, mall saw, 12-month car lubrication contract, an electric frying pan and many others. Fish of any size will be eligible for hidden weight draws and winners, as their names are drawn, will have their choice of prizes.

Directors Map Long Campaign

$280,000 for Stewardship

Anglican Drive Starts Today

Vancouver Island Anglicans will launch a three-year program of Christian stewardship today which is aimed at raising $280,000 to be used to extend church facilities on Vancouver Island.

Lieutenant-Governor George Pearkes, V.C., has been named patron of the drive, which, says Most Rev. Harold E. Sexton, Archbishop of British Columbia, will fulfill a need for the church to extend its program, "particularly among the young."

"If the younger generations are successively lost to God, there will come a time when the churches, having fulfilled their function as a religious retreat for the aged, will be declared redundant by a materialistic and pagan society." The minimum goal of $280,000 will be distributed to newer areas of Vancouver Island now opening up to an ever-growing population. About $100,000 will be spent for rectories and mission halls from Port Hardy to Jordan River and Tofino to Galiano Island, a spokesman said.

Balance of the funds will be made available to parishes as loans for building programs and in support of the Anglican Theological College in Vancouver and of Christ Church Cathedral building fund in Victoria.

Heading the campaign as general chairman is R. J. Bower, editor-in-chief of The Daily Colonist.

Planning committee members are Archdeacon A. E. Hendy, Qualicum; Rev. William Hills, Victoria; Rev. D. B. Houghton, Ladysmith; Canon F. C. Austin, Port Alberni; and Very Rev. B. W. Whitlow, Victoria.

Social committee arrangements are being handled by Mrs. B. P. Hardin, Victoria, assisted by Mrs. P. A. Bacon and Mrs. T. Ragg, Victoria; Mrs. M. W. Nicholson, Duncan, and Mrs. W. E. Mantle, Courtenay.

"This campaign," said Archbishop Sexton, "places on each parish the obligation to test its spiritual resources, its sense of stewardship and its loyalty to the larger fellowship of which it is a part."

'Keep Promise'

Jobless Send Plea To Diefenbaker

The B.C. Federation of Unemployed has called on Prime Minister Diefenbaker to fulfill his election promise and find work for Canada's jobless.

In a letter to the prime minister, the federation demanded: A "greatly enlarged" winter works program of assistance to municipalities; assurance that unemployment insurance benefits will be available to "all who need them," and an all-out effort by the federal government to provide jobs through capital expenditure in "the public sector of our economy."

"Will you fulfil your promise that none shall suffer from unemployment while you are prime minister, or will you too, plead poverty and inability to cope with the situation?" the letter asked.

The federation criticized the government for "finding over night" $300,000,000 to add to the military budget "at the call of NATO."

"We believe such money could be put to better use by applying it to the solution of unemployment in Canada."

The federation said 664,000 Canadians were out of work and dependant on unemployment insurance or charity last winter "at a time... when living costs are at their highest."

GRAND FALLS, Nfld. (CP)—Union organizer Andrew V. Cooper of Toronto announced yesterday the United Brotherhood of Carpenters and Joiners of America (U.B.C.A.) has been recognized by Newfoundland's two paper companies as bargaining agents for the province's 15,000 loggers.

Immediate effect of the announcement is expected to be dissolution of the two-year-old Newfoundland Brotherhood of Woods Workers, an independent union set up to settle a bitter loggers' strike in 1959.

Donald Gordon Keeps CNR Job

OTTAWA (UPI)—Donald Gordon has been reappointed chairman of the board of directors of the Canadian National Railways, Transport Minister Leon Balcer announced last night.

Mr. Balcer told the House of Commons that Mr. Gordon, 60, whose official term of office expired Sept. 30, 1960, would continue to head the Crown-owned transportation system.

The announcement came after a year of speculation about Mr. Gordon's future and frequent criticism of his handling of the CNR by members of Parliament.

Mr. Gordon, the highest-paid public employee in Canada with a salary of $75,000 a year, took over the CNR chief executive's post in 1959.

It was believed that recent support for Mr. Gordon by the heads of two of Canada's most powerful railway unions, clinched the government's decision to keep him on.

The daily railway chief will tape up his appointment Oct. 1.

Garden Notes

By M. V. CHESNUT, FRAS

It isn't very hard to get a good show of daffodils the first year after planting, always providing good bulbs are purchased. In fact, it is almost impossible to go wrong, for in the better grades of bulbs, the flowers are already formed, needing only soil and moisture to draw them out. What happens in the second and subsequent years, though, is a pup from a different litter.

The fortunate owner of a garden on deep sandy loam soil or loam with an underlay of gravel has little to worry about. If his bulbs are taken up and split every third year and if routine precautions are taken against the ever-present bulb fly, his spring floral display will continue to increase year after year.

On sticky clay soil, however, there is a marked tendency for the bulbs to go downhill a bit every year, either dying out altogether or deteriorating into a mass of small bulbils with thin leaves and no flowers.

But with some care it is usually possible to get better-than-average results even on soils which are not naturally favorable for daffodil culture.

The first essential is to prepare the soil really well. Daff bulbs are always planted fairly deep, so the roots are low in the soil, and it is therefore the deeper layer of soil that matters: unlike a bed prepared for seeds, the condition of the surface isn't very important. The most active period for the roots is during the winter, so watering from the winter rains is bad business and must be avoided at all costs. This means good drainage to a depth of at least 18 inches.

When this has been attended to by one means or another—a raised bed is a good last resort method on really soggy ground—it is necessary to provide something for the roots to feed upon. A good plan is to skim off 10 inches of topsoil, then dig into the lower layer one bucketful of old rotted manure or compost plus one cupful of bone meal per square yard. If no manure or ripe compost is available, peat moss may be substituted but in this case double the dose of bone meal. Then return the topsoil.

On light sandy soil, I like to plant my bulbs a good six inches down but, on heavy soil such as we are discussing, four inches over the top of the bulb is sufficient. The recommended spacing in most garden books is 12 inches; personally, I prefer a little closer spacing—say, about nine inches—as the flower stems are longer and the bulb foliage tends to crowd out weeds.

Probably the most important period in the life cycle of a daffodil bulb is immediately after flowering, for this is when the bulb recharges its batteries, plumps itself up and forms next year's flower deep within itself. The bulbs are very susceptible to drought during this critical period and only too often we hit one of our dry spells along about this time. The value of the moisture retaining manure or compost deep in the soil shows up here, but even with this help, several waterings may be necessary. Later, as the leaf tips start to turn color, water is withheld and the soil given a good baking in the sun.

The bulbs take a little time getting used to the change of soil, which shows up in the second year. The first-year blooms, formed before you bought your bulbs, are not affected. If soil preparation has been thorough, there should be a marked improvement in the third year of blooming.

Hazel Breaks the Shackles

Domestics are going out of existence the world over. It's probably harder to find a maid in Kitchingham than it is here and it's getting increasingly hard to find servants in France, England, and West Germany. In all the prosperous countries, in another generation, the maid may be a memory to all but the extremely rich (and who knows whether they'll survive either?), so the other day I had a talk with the creator of Hazel, probably the most famous maid in the Western hemisphere, who is going great guns.

"We are living in an age where maids no longer live in," says Ted Key, who draws the sassy lady at the back of the Saturday Evening Post. "There are very few live-in maids any more. Maids are sit-ins and pick-ups. (Pick-ups are the ones you go to the station for.)"

"I think Hazel's success is not due to the fact that she is a maid, I think of her as a woman—not a maid and not as cartoon character. She has emotional and intellectual characteristics with which people identify." She is also, I thought, the picture of the peppy, sassy, peppy maid-of-all-work that most of us have had to deal with either as children or adults.

Long a staple of the Saturday Evening Post—she is virtually the only feature that emerged unscathed from the recent Post revamping—Hazel has just been launched on television (NBC Thursdays). Hazel will be played by that great woman, Shirley Booth, who let us never forget—played one of radio's greatest women characters, Miss Duffy, of Duffy's Tavern.

"I can't think of anyone who could play Hazel better than Shirley Booth," says Mr. Key. "I expect her to bring great humanity and dignity and compassion to the role."

If you think that's quite a lot to bring to the role of a girl who started as a cartoon character, then you have no idea how seriously Mr. Key takes his intellectual whelp.

"Hazel," he'll tell you, "can move in any number of directions. Hazel represents a great number of people's suppressed desires. We are all rebellious, refined personalities, having our freedoms restricted by conformity. We come from a womb where everything is given to us and we are thrown out on a hostile environment that is cold, not warm. At the very moment of birth, we begin to lose our freedom."

I want you out there to keep all this in mind next time you look at Hazel in the back end of the Saturday Evening Post or on television, either. I warned you Mr. Key takes his character very seriously.

"Our ideals," says Mr. Key, "are those of Buddha or Christ. The more we move toward them, the more we must refine, constrict, adapt. Any character who casts the shackles aside and blurs out what we'd all like to blurt out gives everyone a momentary sense of release from the bonds. That's what I think Hazel does to the reader."

Coming down to earth, Mr. Key related: "There has been interest in Hazel from the movies, from the stage, from television, and from radio before this. In 1944, I wrote a play about Hazel with a staff writer for J. Walter Thompson, Thelma Ritter wanted to do it on television after that but Curtis Publishing, which owns the copyright, wouldn't let Hazel go. Ultimately Ritter relented and we decided to let Screen Gems do it."

"I wrote a formal letter to the writers on the show from myself. Also, the writers got a letter from Hazel. They were very pleased with Hazel's letter and said they were going to use some of it in the first script."

If that last surprises you, then you don't know much about people who create running characters. Just as Charlie McCarthy has closets full of clothes, Hazel does a lot of letter writing to real people. Faith Baldwin and Hazel have been exchanging letters since 1944.

"I don't aim for an intellectual response from people but Hazel seems to arouse it in people," says Key. "Some writers have compared her with Charlie Chaplin at his best."

Davis' Rolls Has Stereo

HOLLYWOOD (NANA)—Sight in London: Sammy Davis Jr. driving around in a new convertible Rolls-Royce, complete with stereo record player going full blast. Sammy switched his record-making to Frank Sinatra's Reprise Company. And Dean Martin will be doing likewise. Peter Lawford still has to be heard from... Sammy saw Van Johnson in "The Music Man" in London, and writes that Van is knocking the British in the "Isles."

Tony Curtis talked turkey backstage with Anna Maria Alberg after seeing "Carnival" in New York. And Anna agreed to make a movie for him—probably "Forty Pounds of Trouble."... Also, I hear that David Merrick has redecorated Anna's dressing room, so I guess that little feud is over.

It really is love with Joan Cohn and Larry Harvey. Joan flew in from Larry and Munich for one day for her fashion show today—she's in business with Janor. Then tomorrow she flies right back to Munich to spend Harvey's birthday with him Oct. 1... And Tony Franciosa's fiancée, Judy Balaban Katz, came back to Hollywood to sell her home to Carl Reiner. She'll meet Tony in New York when he arrives there from Rome, to star in his play, "The Umbrella."

Warren Beatty is set to play Moss Hart in the author's autobiography on the screen. "Act One" Moss is now writing "Act Two." Beatty, after "Celebration" with Joanne Woodward, will also costar with Mr. Lawrence Olivier in "The Leopard." Not bad for a boy who was unknown here 18 months ago. His salary, by the way, jumped from $20,000 to $100,000 per picture.

U.S. Visitors to B.C. Up by 14.5 Per Cent

Recreation Minister Earle C. Westwood said yesterday the B.C. tourist industry chalked up a 14.5 per cent increase in U.S. motorists crossing border this spring and summer. The increase is more than double the 6.1 per cent boost recorded for all of Canada up until the end of August.

Mr. Westwood credited part of the increase to wider promotion by the B.C. Government Travel Bureau, a government grant of $50,000 to stimulate regional promotions, and the opening of B.C. House in San Francisco. (B.C. House was not opened until mid-way through August.)

During August 132 per cent more U.S. motorists visited B.C. than during the same month last year while the all-Canada increase only rose 3.9 per cent.

Total number of travellers vehicle permits issued at border points to Aug. 31 was $27,147, representing nearly 1,000,000 visitors by car from the U.S. and this category makes up only 73 per cent of the total number of tourists entering the province.

'Yes and No'

Highly Amusing And Rambunctious

By BERT BENNY

St. Matthias Little Theatre Society opened the 1961-62 theatrical season this week with the first performance of "Yes and No," a rambunctious affair in which the audience found lots to laugh at.

The full artistic value of Kenneth Horne's play was not realized, but it can withstand light treatment and still be highly amusing.

Roberta Riches played the long, exacting part of "Jo" as if she had mounted a horse, dug in her spurs and galloped off—sometimes in what looked like the wrong direction. She has undoubted skill and ruthless energy, she only needs a clearer idea of where she is going and how best to get there to score an outstanding success.

Kavan Mull as "Rev. Bagshot" were consistently believable and nicely restrained.

Jo Pepper's "Mrs. Jarrold" flattered amiably along and John Porteous remained consistently in character as "Rev. Jarrold." Anne Toone and Stanley Bowles carried the smaller parts of "Mrs. Webb" and "Adrian" in good style.

More attention is needed to timing, pace and word emphasis.

"Yes and No," which is directed by John Poulton, goes on again tonight and Saturday—each evening at 8:15 at St. Matthias Hall.

Victorian's Tuna Undercut By Cheap Japanese Imports

By JACK FRY

Import of cheap Japanese tuna is unfair to the Canadian fishing industry, claims a Victoria fisherman who was unable to make a profit on his last tuna catch.

Charles Walcott, 48, was able to sell to the general public only one-sixth of the 6,000 pounds of tuna in the iced holds of his 70-foot schooner Mv. Annie Tuck, which arrived here last weekend.

TAX PROPOSED

He blamed Japanese imports for low market prices and suggested the federal government tax iron ore exports to Japan for money which could be spent as a subsidy on the Canadian tuna industry.

Mr. Walcott, a well-known fisherman who has been working out of Victoria for 30 years, is one of several from here who turn occasionally to the tuna grounds.

REVENUE TRIPS

He has made about seven of these trips since the mid 1940s, the latest of which was 11 days trolling 30 to 40 miles off the California-Oregon coast.

The schooner Annie Tuck had been used as a fish packer but because of a poor season on salmon, company boats were given preference for what business there was, he said.

"We had to do something. It was a question of whether to go south or do nothing. As it is, we didn't make any money."

The veteran fisherman moored his boat near the foot of Yates Street and sold 56 of his 350 tuna at 30 cents a pound. Then he moved around to B.C. Packers at Ogden Point, where two tons of fish were unloaded for 15 cents a pound.

Remainder of the haul will be frozen and sold during the winter months, said Mr. Walcott.

"We could have made money if the public had bought all our fish. It would have come to $600 per ton. But now they get Japanese tuna."

"American tuna fishermen are having the same trouble."

"Japanese tuna comes in by the shipload and they can't compete against it, either," he said.

"There's no protective tariff. The theory is the Japanese are buying our iron ore and import more from Canada than they export."

ON IMPORTED

A federal customs official confirmed there is no tariff on fresh Japanese tuna used as B.C. canneries, although there is a 2 1/2 per cent duty on imported, canned Japanese tuna.

"Our iron ore industry is making money but the fishermen are losing. To make it fair and square, the steel industry or the government should subsidize the fishing industry so much per ton," said Mr. Walcott.

Ban-Bomb Orator Fined $20

TORONTO (CP)—Douglas Campbell, 31, Toronto's bearded ban-bomb orator, Thursday was convicted of speaking in a public park without a permit. He was fined $20 or five days in jail. The offence took place July 31.

Stop-Hazing Request Injury Sequel

TORONTO (CP)—The Students' Administrative Council at the University of Toronto has agreed to ask student groups to abolish "non-constructive initiations."

Its action followed an incident in which Barry Thorpe, 18, of Woodville, Ont., crashed into a brick wall during a "hazing" in which he and several other first-year students were blindfolded with "pillowcases. The university college student cracked a vertebra but was not seriously injured.

Every year in Canada more than 1,500,000 citizens help the United Appeal through voluntary activity.

Municipalities' Goal

Income Tax May Pay All B.C. School Bills

VERNON (CP)—The Union of B.C. Municipalities convention gave unanimous approval Thursday to a resolution giving the incoming executive power to do an exhaustive study of revenue sources, "and particularly the income tax, for financing school costs."

The special executive resolution will result in establishing the claims of B.C. municipalities for the best possible deal in the proposed provincial government income tax rental revenue legislation.

DOOR OPEN

And it will keep the door open for continued discussion with the government on the principle that income tax should be used to finance education costs.

Six Jazzmen Face Trial In Dope Case

MONTREAL (UPI)—Five of seven members of Maynard Ferguson's jazz band, arrested here last Saturday on charges of possessing marijuana, were granted bail of $500 each, Thursday, following preliminary hearing. Trial was set for Oct. 6.

The five musicians are Harold Keller, North Bergen, N.J.; Don Rader, Middlesex, N.J.; Kenneth Rugg, Plainfield, N.J.; Don Menza, Buffalo, N.Y.; and Lincoln Millman, Sonoma, N.Y. Augusta Ferrell, Flushing, N.Y., also charged with possession, was released when the defence proved lack of evidence to commit for trial. The seventh member, Richard Berry, Brooklyn, was charged with the more serious offence of trafficking and was granted bail of $1,200.

For homes and buildings where a distinctive and pleasing appearance is desired, enhanced by heavy shadow lines. Sound intergrown knots ranging in size from 2-inch in 6-inch widths to 4-inch in 12-inch widths add to the rustic appearance of the grade.  WHAT ARE ITS QUALITIES? "FOREST" siding with its substantial thickness and greater wood volume, adds to the structural strength and solidity of the building. The design of "FOREST" siding ensures a tight weather seal at the lap which together with its thickness and flush-to-base principle makes excellent material from the insulation standpoint.  "FOREST" siding represents an economy to home builders. Coating less than most other types of siding, the lap design ensures easy fitting and speedy application at less labor costs.  HOW IS IT APPLIED? As easily and quickly as common shiplap. Each piece of "FOREST" siding fits snugly on the one below and requires only one mitre cut.  HOW CAN IT BE FINISHED? If a natural finish is desired, use equal proportions of raw linseed oil and any well known brand of waterproof sealer. This not only protects the wood surface, but also brings out the natural beauty of the knots and the grain. If a colored finish is desired "FOREST" siding can easily be painted. It is recommended that a sharp instrument be used to score the finished product underneath the butt (where it will not show) to stop formation of a vapor barrier. Winning Contract

By HOWARD SCHENKEN and RICHARD L. FRY

Three no-trump becomes a tempting

prospect on borderline values when one opponent seems likely to have almost all the missing strength and no long suit. Sooner or later the defender

with all the strength

is likely to find the lead an embarrassment

On today's deal

North stretched his final bid with that point in mind. His calculations seemed likely to come unstuck until West found a rare way to commit

When West

doubles the opening

club and North

redoubles the normal

procedure with East's parabola is to pass. There is, however, something to be said tactically for bidding one diamond. This bid does not exclude any East-West contract, and should not suggest to West, who has heard the bidding, that East has any strength. A pass on East's hand only advertises more clearly to the opposition

the fact that East-West are in trouble.

North's exaggerated raise to three no-trump relied on one or two helpful leads from West, but all that player is well provided with sequence the contact looks hopeless. South ducked the first spade, won the second, and took the losing club finesse. West eagerly cashied his spade tricks, on the last of which declarer parted with a heart from his hand and a diamond from the board. A shift to the heart queen was won by

'Dormitory' Rebels

Comox: Little Village With a Big Future

COURTENAY — It used to be just another little village, quietly living its life as a dormitory suburb of the City of Courtenay some four miles away.

It relied on Courtenay for its water, its drug store and its doctors. It shared the Vancouver Island regional library with other communities.

Not now.

In the last few years, Comox has shown it not only has a mind of its own but a strong heart to go with it.

All It Asks at Christmas Is Its Own Liquor Store

with water. That was six years ago.

WENT ALONE.

The village finally took the big step alone.

"We'll find our own supply," said the commissioners and the villagers backed them up, approving a $200,000 money bylaw for the well system it now uses, and the bonds were sold, not at the 95 cents that other municipalities hoped to get at the time, but at $1.01.

Then came the library question. "We'll have our own library operated by the municipality," said the commission and again ratepayers agreed. Comox cut its ties with the regional group and showed its independence.

SETBACK.

The next step was a sewer system. A $300,000 bylaw was put to the ratepayers but this time it was the voter who showed his independence. The bylaw was rejected.

That was three years ago. Once again the sewer bylaw has been placed, this time for $360,000, and this time there was no hesitation in giving approval.

The latest project for this

village is a $1,000,000 replacement for the old hospital.

This time the driving force comes from the Sisters of St. Joseph, who operate the present hospital. Their plans are currently being studied for approval by the provincial government.

The same order has promised a donation of $25,000 towards the sewer project.

Comox is proud of its volunteer fire department. When other communities in the area were hesitating about two-way radios to link up the four district fire departments, Comox department officials never stopped stressing the value of such a system.

Eventually all local departments put in radios.

POPULATION UP.

There were only 700 people there a few years ago and 1,600 today. The air force moved in and built 100 homes for married quarters right in the village. Out at the station, four miles away, another 250 housing units were built, and occupied.

All this helped Comox business.

Two years ago a supermarket was opened. What had been a small corner coffee shop was enlarged and is now one of the best restaurants in the district.

The ratepayers advertised and persuaded a druggist to open a business. A former RCAF medical officer retired and opened a private practice in Comox.

Now there's something else Comox would like to get to feel that it's really independent of Courtenay—its own liquor store.

Hunter Paused Poised

Nipper Or Not?

By BEA HAMILTON

FULFORD — A Colonist news picture probably cost a Victoria hunter his deer on Salt Spring Island this week — but helped a local family breathe easier.

The nimrod, not identified, drew a bead on a fine, fat buck and was about to fire when he was struck by the resemblance of his target to "Nipper," a pet mule-deer buck whose picture appeared in the Colonist some weeks ago.

COULDN'T SHOOT.

He found himself unable to pull the trigger and a short time later was on the telephone to Mrs. Bruce Campbell in whose home Nipper lives.

He asked if the tame deer was at home, then replied "thank goodness" when told that it was.

The hunter, who identified himself only as a Victorian, then presumably tried to take up the chase where it left off.

'FINE GESTURE'

"I would have liked to shake his hand for it was a fine gesture on his part," said Mrs. Campbell.

Mr. and Mrs. Campbell care for four deer at their home. Mr. Campbell is employed at the Stanley Park Zoo in Vancouver.

FEARS SHOTS.

"Every time I hear a shot fired I fear for our deer," Mrs. Campbell said.

To prevent other hunters from having their sport interrupted the Campbells have equipped their deer with wide red neckbands and ear tags.

Police Training

Municipal Support Won by Wurtele

VERNON (CP) — Government consideration of a province-wide standardized system of training and examining policemen was backed Thursday by the Union of B.C. Municipalities.

The decision overruled the recommendation of the resolutions committee, which said the problem should be solved by the municipalities themselves and not involve the government.

Reeve A. C. Wurtele of Esquimalt, who submitted the proposal, Mayor Tom Alsbury of Vancouver and Reeve Clarence Taylor of Delta said the government has some responsibility in establishing a standard for police training.

Mayor Tom Shorthouse of Nelson was elected president of the UBCM for 1961-62. Mayor L. K. Jordan of Port Alberni and Mayor A. V. Fraser of Quesnel were named vice-presidents.

Ald. Earle Adams of Vancouver is treasurer and H. J. Gardner, Williams Lake, was re-elected village representative.

It Wasn't Her Night!

Mrs. Jenny Brillinger, 635 Grenville, is probably wishing she'd stayed home last night.

She missed the big game at Optimist bingo by one call, then climbed into her car to drive home, only to find the front wheel had been stolen. To top that—the tire on the spare wheel was flat.

Do-It-Yourself Ferry

When most ferry companies decide on a new vessel they seek a government construction subsidy and competitive bids from shipyards. But not Hornby Island ferry skipper Capt. Albert Savoie. He designed his own six-car hull with novel power tunnel down the centre for shallow-draft landings, had plans checked by a naval architect, then launched this mammoth do-it-yourself project. Vessel will be in service next year. It is being built on Hornby Island with help of local craftsmen.—(Leahy photo.)

Nanaimo Police Probe $15,000 Clothing Theft

NANAIMO — Virtually the entire stock of a Nanaimo men's wear shop was cleaned out by thieves early Wednesday, RCMP have reported.

Loss has been set at $15,418. Owners Reg and Harvey Murphy of the 35-year-old Harvey Murphy Men's Wear said the thieves took 195 suits, 200 pairs of slacks, 60 top coats, 19 hats and 12 sports shirts.

RCMP believe the theft occurred early Wednesday—a day when the shop is closed.

The thieves apparently came over an adjoining roof, broke a second-floor window in the shop, and entered.

The clothing was then taken to the store basement and loaded into a truck from there. Possibly the thieves were scared-off before they had finished; for the owners found additional stocks of clothing near the basement door, ready for loading.

Janitor Remanded In Shotgun Case

DUNCAN — A 26-year-old hospital janitor was remanded in custody here yesterday after he pleaded guilty to being in possession of a firearm with intent to commit an indictable offence.

David Eugene Webster was charged following an incident Wednesday night in a local beer parlor. He was remanded pending a probation report.

Police told the court Webster apparently got into an argument in the beer parlor over a case of beer, and after being ejected returned carrying a shotgun.

Police intercepted the accused before he reached his home.

Missing Mariner Named

CAMPBELL RIVER—RCMP yesterday identified 65-year-old bachelor William Woods of Campbell River as the man feared lost overboard from a small boat found drifting Tuesday near Thurlow Island.

The RCMP boat Massett is searching the area where Wood's small boat, filled with supplies and bearing a dog as its only passenger, was found.

The supplies had been purchased earlier at Refuge Cove on West Redonda Island.

New Clue In Attack

NANAIMO—Police said yesterday a blood-stained hammer handle found at the scene of the Sept. 22 attack on an 18-year-old girl may prove a vital clue in locating her assailant. They believe she was struck over the head several times with the hammer. The girl, whose name has not been released, is recovering.

Gulf Islands Book Sells

Sales of a book titled "A Gulf Islands Patchwork," recently published by the Islands branch of the B.C. Historical Society, indicate people are showing growing interest in the area.

For the society itself it is a gamble that has paid off. Cost of printing 1,000 copies was born by the branch and it is believed there are only a few copies still available at local book stores.

The book contains stories of early life on the Gulf Islands with character sketches of some of their notable citizens.

Officer Forgot The Law

VANCOUVER (CP)—A citizen has the right to resist arrest if he is not told why he is being arrested, Magistrate A. L. Bewley ruled Thursday in throwing out a police charge of assault against Yvonne Black, 27.

"KICKED HIM"

Constable Richard Begley charged the woman kicked him after he had arrested her male companion. So he arrested her too, but admitted in court he did not state the charge.

CODE QUOTED

The magistrate quoted the Criminal Code about police telling persons why they are being taken into custody. He said the courts would back police to the hilt in their duty but they must conform to the Criminal Code wherever possible.

A drunk charge against the man in the case, Bruce Erickson, also was dismissed.

Dead Man's Estate Sued For Pollution of Pool

PATERSON, N.J. (UPI)—A dead man's estate is being sued because the car in which he was killed plunged into a fish pond and allegedly resulted in the death of a stock of trout.

Mr. and Mrs. Edward Schaffer, the pond owners, filed the suit yesterday in Paterson county court against the estate of Nicholas Nicholson.

As a result of a two-car collision last March, Nicholson's car ran off the road, down a 30-foot embankment, through a retaining wall and plunged 12 feet into the Schaffers' eight-foot deep pond. Nicholson was trapped in the vehicle and drowned.

The Schaffers claimed their pond became polluted and as a result a stock of trout and other smaller fish were killed. They estimated damage at $5,000.

SYRIANS CLAIM BIG VICTORY IN REVOLT AGAINST NASSER

Nigeria Seeks Men, Planes In Canada

OTTAWA (CP)—Nigeria Defence Minister Ribadu said Thursday he will recommend his government purchase about $6,000,000 worth of transport planes from De Havilland Aircraft of Canada, Downsview, Ont.

He also said in an interview he has asked Canada to supply instructors for the Nigerian armed forces and to train 30 student officers in this country each year.

MANY MORE NEEDED

Mr. Ribadu, who has conferred here with Prime Minister Diefenbaker and Defence Minister Harkness, said Nigeria will need "many more" instructors than the 30 Canada has sent to Ghana, another African member of the Commonwealth.

He said there is every indication Nigeria's request will receive very sympathetic consideration from the Canadian government.

TO SURVEY NEEDS

The next step should be for a Canadian armed forces team to go to Nigeria to assess that country's needs and see what Canada can do to supply them.

He said the matter is "pretty urgent" and that he hoped the Canadian team would leave for Nigeria by the end of October.

SPEED SEEN

"We are a young nation and we have to move fast," Nigeria has an army and navy and plans to start building a small air force. There would be no purchase of fighter planes until Nigeria had trained air crew of its own.

WILLING TO PAY

Mr. Ribadu said he would like to see 10 Nigerians from each of the three services trained in Canada each year. Nigeria was willing to pay for this as well as for a Canadian instructional staff stationed in Nigeria.

Mr. Ribadu said it is necessary for Nigeria, the most populous country in Africa, to be able to defend its borders against any aggressor.

B.C. Telephone Attacked by MP

OTTAWA (CP)—The British Columbia Telephone Company came under heavy criticism in the Commons Thursday night.

Erhart Regier (CCF—Burnaby-Coquitlam) said the company "by hook or by crook" has "seized" provincial jurisdiction of the B.C. Public Utilities Commission and still remains under the jurisdiction of the federal Board of Transport Commissioners.

The board accepted "holobolus" any argument advanced by the company. No argument has ever been given serious consideration by the board.

Company replies to complaints were "accepted as gospel" by the board.

Telephone users in British Columbia paid twice the rates of users in some other provinces. The company had a "fantastic device"—the more users, the fewer exchanges established and the higher the rates.

MPs End Longest Session

OTTAWA (CP)—The longest parliamentary session in Canadian history was prorogued early today with the reading of the speech from the throne by Chief Justice Patrick Kerwin, deputy Governor-General.

For the weary Commons members, who started their work last Nov. 17 and had been on a six-day week since May, it was the 174th sitting day. The previous record session was 155 days in 1908.

U.S. Can't Help Afghans

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The state department is trying to figure out how to get a 14,000-ton U.S. aid shipment to re-mote Afghanistan without sending it through Russia.

The aid—675 railroad cars of it—has been in depots in Pakistan since the Pakistan-Afghan border was closed in a local dispute three weeks ago.

U.S. officials fear that, unless a solution is found soon, neutral Afghanistan will be forced to the Soviet Union for increased aid.

There are only three ways to ship cargo to Afghanistan—the norami route through Pakistan and the Khyber Pass, a tortuous and expensive route through Iran and through Russia.

The stalled U.S. aid includes 9,000 tons of wheat and 3,000 tons of other goods, mainly construction material and equipment for Afghanistan's Kabul-Kandahar highway project and the Helmand Valley land reclamation project.

'Mother Country Idea Dead to Canadians'

LONDON (CP)—A Canadian delegate to the Commonwealth parliamentary conference said yesterday Britain now is little more than a tourist attraction for most Canadians.

Douglas Fisher, CCF member of Parliament for Port Arthur, told delegates there were two reasons why Canadians at the conference had made inebrious contributions to the debates.

"In the first place those of us in opposition have no desire to embarrass the Canadian government by talking about the (European) Common Market problem," he said.

"Secondly it must be made clear that

Canada's links with Britain now are very, very tenuous.

"Unlike our Australian and New Zealand friends, we can't accept this whole business of mother country."

"The days when a Canadian could boast 'a British subject I was born, a British subject I shall die' are passed," Fisher said Britain's possible entry into the Common Market was just something Canadians would have to adjust to.

"And we always have a great neighbor to our south (the United States) on whom we can count for certain alternatives."

Fisher's speech was greeted by polite applause from the conference's 140 delegates.

'Country Freed From Despotism'

BEIRUT, Lebanon (UPI)—Syrian rebel officers early today claimed victory in "freeing the country from despotism and the rule" of UAR President Gamal Abdel Nasser and claimed to have wiped out a number of paratroopers in the Latakia area.

The rebel radio also claimed the support of the Syrian First Army, which Nasser earlier had ordered into action against the revolt.

(See also Page 5)

Rebel broadcasts also claimed that Aleppo, Syria's largest city, was in their hands, as well as the capital, Damascus. Earlier reports had said Aleppo was still in government control.

But the rebel-held Damascus radio said Aleppo's governor and its political leaders pledged support to the revolution.

NASSER 'A DESPOT'

Damascus radio announced formation of a "supreme revolutionary council" but promised that the army would get out of politics later and "restore the rule of the country to the handful of faithful people."

The broadcast called Nasser a despot, and said he sought "bloodshed for his own benefit."

SERIOUS THREAT

In Cairo, the revolt was considered the most serious threat to the United Arab Republic since its formation. Officials said it was far more critical than an invasion from another country.

The Syrian officers' uprising against Nasser and control of their nation by the Cairo dominated UAR revived the threat of Communist takeover in Syria. The revolutionaries were joined by Communists who demonstrated in the streets against Nasser and the UAR.

FLARED UP

The claim of First Army support for the revolt was broadened in the form of a rebel statement directed to Nasser, who earlier in the day had ordered the same troops to march on Damascus and restore his rule.

In the first of two speeches he made yesterday, Nasser told the First Army to recapture the Syrian capital. The revolt appeared to end at that time, but it flared up seven hours later, and Nasser again gave orders to march.

In his second radio broadcast in 10 hours, Nasser said last night "I shall never accept the revolution."

The UAR announced that the revolt leaders as Brig. Abdel Ghani Dahman and Muwaffak Azzam, Lt. Col. Abdel Keim El Nahawi, and Haydar El Kuzbari, Nasseeb Hindi and Hisham Abd Rabhu, had planned an all-out military action to smash the rebellion.

'Dark Motive' Denied As Tax Bill Passes

OTTAWA (UPI) — The House of Commons today passed without recorded vote the federal government's controversial new tax deal for the provinces.

The legislation, last major bill to be passed this session, now goes to the Senate for final approval.

The new act will replace the present tax sharing agreement which expires March 31, 1962, and will run for five years as did the present one.

Under it the provinces will be empowered to levy their own taxes instead of giving the major tax fields to the federal government in return for a share of the revenue.

Finance Minister Fleming said it will return to the provinces their constitutional responsibilities.

During final debate, Liberal would do no good to make it public.

Fleming said the new act will be an "effective bulwark" against those who want to centralize power in the federal government. He said "socialists" have maintained the sole right of taxation should be vested federally in the personal and corporation fields.

He did not further name the "socialists," but Prime Minister Diefenbaker has said the next election will be fought on the issue of free enterprise versus socialism.

Fleming said Pfkergill should not impute "dark motives" to him. He said a five-year projection was based on hypothetical figures and it

Chamber Unveils Objective

Bastion Square Centre of 'Old Town' Victoria

By IAN STREET

A Chamber of Commerce committee will draw specific plans for the future development of Bastion Square as the nucleus of "old town" Victoria, a spokesman said yesterday.

Committee chairman Dr. Hugh Borsman said the proposed development would be submitted to Chamber directors for endorsement before being passed on to city council and the provincial government.

Dr. Borsman said, in answer to merchants of the area who objected to his description of Bastion Square as "rundown and... decrepit," that the business firms had not so far been approached by the committee because it had no plans to go on.

He said the committee would prepare an architect's sketch of what might be done with the area. Tentative plans include a multi-tiered parking garage on the waterfront linked to Bastion Square by a pedestrian "skyway" spanning Wharf Street.

A roof garden and restaurant could be developed above the parking facilities, the chairman said.

Dr. Borsman said a recent survey made on behalf of the committee showed several handicraft stores, two restaurants including one backed by Vancouver interests, specialty stores, antique shops and photo supply houses were interested in locating in the area.

"But first we have got to show them that the city is interested in bringing traffic to the area," he said. "We have to make the move good business."

The chairman said the committee was prepared to make some representations to city council before the final decision was made on location of new downtown parking facilities.

The provincial government would also be urged to spend some money on restoration of the old courthouse after it is vacated early next year.

Cloak of History Lifted a Little From Noisy Gun

At least one person in the Greater Victoria area knows a bit of history behind the firing of the noon and 9 p.m. gun at Work Point.

Mrs. F. V. Cornwall, 4025 Lecarno Lane, read a Colonist story saying the firing had become such a daily routine that military and civic officials no longer know how or when the custom originated.

She said yesterday she knows it was fired as early as the year 1879 because her father used to load the gun. The same man later became provincial minister of finance and agriculture.

INTO ROWBOAT

Mrs. Cornwall recalled that her father, the late R. G. Tatlow, used to tell her when she was a child that he came to Victoria as a captain in "B" Battery of the Royal Canadian Artillery.

One of Capt. Tatlow's jobs during the year 1879 was to climb into a rowboat every day and row out to Brother Islands near the entrance to Esquimalt harbor to load a gun there, which fired from shore at 9 p.m., said Mrs. Cornwall.

BLAST INTENSITY

She said her father never told her why the gun was fired at that time of day.

Attention was drawn to the 9 p.m. gun recently by a number of local residents who complained about the intensity of the blast. Army officials later said they would try to reduce the noise.

Burn Up Leaves In Yard

Leaf-burning time is at hand and residents have been warned by local fire chiefs to use care. Habit of many home owners is to rake the leaves off the property onto the road and burn them there. Since the burning is on a hardtop surface this may seem safe—but it is illegal.

Oak Bay has a specific law against burning on streets. In Victoria, Esquimalt and Seanchich, burning of any trash, including leaves, is governed by permits that specify the fire must be on private property.

Population Bomb 'Worst Menace'

The confusing welter of an eventual sardine-like condition with one person to the square yard—what situation will take its toll before then—he highly populated countries does see the population explosion and the attendant political jockeying as the great menace of the age.

This opinion was expressed last night by Victoria physician Dr. Hugh Borsman to the Oak Bay Kiwanis Club in a carefully documented talk on the world population explosion.

The fuse to ignite the population bomb, said Dr. Borsman, was ignited far back in the depths of the industrial revolution when men struck out in search of new lands.

FOUR BILLION
By 1980, Dr. Borsman forecast, some 3,000,000,000 of the staggering total of 4,000,000,000 will be living in Asia and Africa. This will be an increase of 25 per cent over the present population total.

Holland, he said, supports 900 people on every square mile of land. Japan supports 685, Canada 4.7 and Australia 2.4.

Lions' Lantern Festival

Once-a-Year Day Coming Up For City's Busy Chinatown

By JACK FREY

High-necked, Oriental sheath dresses will be the style worn by many Chinese girls during the annual Lantern Festival at the Sirocco Club Oct. 19.

The festival is sponsored by the Victoria (Chinatown) Lions Club.

It is a once-a-year day for Chinese, mostly second and third generation Canadians, to show their neighbors the traditional Chinese way of life while raising money for Lions Club activities.

Stalls filled with Chinese home cooking, sewing, crafts and ornaments will be open to the public from 2 to 5 p.m. and 7 to 11 p.m.

The Sirocco Club will be transformed into a colorful

Oriental bazaar. There will be lanterns, streamers and throngs of people milling about stalls filled with exotic fruits and ginger.

Working bees are held late into the night as workers put finishing touches on a wide variety of handcraft items which will be sold.

LONG GOWN

Door prizes will also be offered, including a teakwood coffee table, Corning ware set, woollen goods, a breakfast set, coffee set and leather wallet.

Though most Chinese girls here wear the same type of clothing as other girls, for the festival they will wear the traditional "cheongsam" or "long gown" which was introduced to women of China centuries ago during the Manchu dynasty.

FOR MODESTY

A slit up each side of the skirt assures "ease of movement" and endows the basically simple cheongsam with a touch of intrigue, said a fashion expert. "The shoulders and neck must be covered for modesty reasons."

Who's Eccentric?

'King' Scott Challenges A Pretender

By ED COSGROVE

Victoria's "king of the eccentrics" yesterday challenged newspaper columnist James K. Nesbitt as a pretender to the crown.

Lighthouse philosopher W. A. Scott, seething over a Colonist account of Mr. Nesbitt's eccentricities, challenged the historian-writer to a "no-holds barred" debate in Beacon Hill Park.

The subject: "Eccentricity—an acquired art or a natural talent?"

Mr. Scott's cerebral explosion came after reading an account of a speech made by Mr. Nesbitt to the Victoria branch of the B.C. Historical Association in which he extolled eccentricity as an asset to the community.

What is success in terms of eccentricity? he was asked.

"Bertrand Russell is a success. The chief contribution an eccentric can make to a community is to shock people into thinking."

When does one know he has been admitted to the inner circle of eccentricity?

"It is a loosely knit organization... a very small, select club, but one knows by the attitude of the people and the newspapers," explained Mr. Scott.

"For instance... there's no doubt in your mind about me, is there?"

Husband, Wife Both Winners?

For the first time in the history of The Daily Colonist King Fisherman contest, a husband and wife fishing team is in line for two of the major honors. (Entries, Page 27.)

A couple of weeks ago Mrs. Emma Ross of Port Renfrew went out in San Juan Bay, a couple of hundred yards from her home, and caught a 47.5-pound spring salmon to take the lead in that division.

SAME WATERS

Her husband Ralph went out in the same waters Tuesday and caught a 19.5-pound coho salmon, which qualifies him as leading island coho fisherman and leading Colonist subscriber coho fisherman.

Mrs. Ross stands to win a Youngstown food waste disposer unit, to be donated by W. R. Menzies Co.—Port Renfrew, is slated to get electric power this year—and a handsome King Fisherman trophy.

Mr. Ross could win a Viking outboard motor, to be donated by T. Eaton Co. for the subscriber with the biggest coho and a King Fisherman trophy for the biggest coho.

CAN ONLY WIN

Jim Cooper of New Westminster, a non-subscriber, caught a 20.10-pound coho at Bates Beach, but can only win King Fisherman trophy and Prince Crest.

Port Renfrew area now holds three of the leading spots in the King Fisherman contest. Dave Harling, 4028 Granville, caught the biggest lake trout entered so far, an 8.5-pounder from Lizard Lake.

Jaycees Eye Trekka

The brave little yacht Trekka, which bobbed her way 33,000 miles around the world with one man on board, still has a chance of being enshrined in her home port of Victoria.

The Junior Chamber of Commerce has referred to its executive a motion that the Jaycees spearhead a drive to raise $4,000 for purchase of the boat, which would probably then be turned over to the B.C. Maritime Museum.

LARGER CRAFT

Trekka is up for sale for $4,750 at San Pedro, Calif. Her skipper-owner John Guzzwell, who wants to build a larger craft in England, has indicated he would deliver the 20-foot yacht to Victoria for $4,000.

Although the Jaycee executive will have to report its findings to the general membership, decision on whether that group will sponsor a save-the-Trekka fund will probably be known after Tuesday night's executive meeting.

A two-car crash at Cook and North Park yesterday sent an elderly driver to hospital.

Civil Servant Suggests Parking Issue Solution

A civil servant has offered his solution to a parking problem created by government employees and protested by city property owners four months ago.

Davis M. Carey, 2016 Romney Road, a forester in the B.C. Forest Service, said many city parking restrictions have for many years "constituted persecution of motorist-civil servants."

He said unnecessary parking restrictions along both sides of many streets force civil servants to park close to their offices so they can periodically move their cars to avoid tickets.

Residents could be given a special sticker to allow them unrestricted parking.

"It is felt these measures will relieve congestion, improve safety and reduce the expense of administration of the parking regulations near the legislative buildings," said

He suggests the city remove blanket restrictions from Mr. Carey.

Monstrous Tile's Mentor 'Should Have Head Read'

Peter Bruton's NOTEBOOK

ANOTHER VIEW: Former Speaker in the B.C. legislature Tom Irwin, visited the buildings yesterday and was thunderstruck.

Aghast at the line tile floors outside his former office, he said: "Whoever thought up this monstrous piece of vandalism should have his head read."

Mr. Irwin just couldn't believe his eyes.

"They might just as well take off the copper sheathing from the domes of the buildings, remove the domes and make the buildings look like a mental institution—which perhaps it is," he said.

"If I had been here this never would have happened. As soon as they tried to lift one tile I would have stopped them. Vandalism, that's what it is."

CAT-NAPPING: There's a mighty upset little youngster out at Belmont Park who is checking out his new surroundings.

The SPCA won't help because it says Belmont Park is out of its jurisdiction.

What makes it worse is that the family is convinced the kitten is being held against its will in a neighborhood house.

Odd thing about it all is that the Bayshore is cheaper. And pity the CCP.

The report is being used as the basis for legislation aimed at covering the problem. The hanging in the office of Pro-

Dormitory' Rebels

Comox: Little Village With a Big Future

COURTENAY — It used to be just another little village, quietly living its life as a dormitory suburb of the City of Courtenay some four miles away.

It relied on Courtenay for its water, its drug store and its doctors. It shared the Vancouver Island regional library with other communities.

Not now. In the last few years, Comox has shown it not only has a mind of its own but a strong heart to go with it.

Work by village commissioners and progressive residents is making Comox independent of its larger neighbor.

All It Asks at Christmas Is Its Own Liquor Store

with water. That was six years ago.

WENT ALONE

The village finally took the big step alone.

"We'll find our own supply," said the commissioners and the villagers backed them up, approving a $200,000 money bylaw for the well system it now uses, and the bonds were sold, not at the 95 cents that other municipalities hoped to get at the time, but at $1.01.

Then came the library question. "We'll have our own library," operated by the municipality, said the commission and again ratepayers agreed. Comox cut its ties with the regional group and showed its independence.

SETBACK

The next step was a sewer system. A $300,000 bylaw was put to the ratepayers but this time it was the voter who showed his independence. The bylaw was rejected.

That was three years ago. Once again the sewer bylaw has been placed, this time for $300,000, and this time there was no hesitation in giving approval.

The latest project for this village is a $1,000,000 replacement for the old hospital.

This time the driving force comes from the Sisters of St. Joseph, who operate the present hospital. Their plans are currently being studied for approval by the provincial government.

The same order has promised a donation of $25,000 towards the sewer project.

Comox is proud of its volunteer fire department. When other communities in the area were hesitating about two-way radios to link up the four district fire departments, Comox department officials never stopped stressing the value of such a system.

Eventually all local departments put in radios.

POPULATION UP

There were only 700 people there a few years ago and 1,600 today. The air force moved in and built 100 homes for married quarters right in the village. Out at the station, four miles away, another 250 housing units were built and occupied.

All this helped Comox business.

Two years ago a supermarket was opened. What had been a small corner coffee shop was enlarged and is now one of the best restaurants in the district.

The ratepayers advertised and persuaded a druggist to open a business. A former RCAF medical officer retired and opened a private practice in Comox.

Now there's something else Comox would like to get to feel that it's really independent of Courtenay—its own liquor store.

Hunter Paused Poised

Nipper Or Not?

FULFORD — A Colonist news picture probably cost a Victoria hunter his deer on Salt Spring Island this week — but helped a local family breathe easier.

The nimrod, not identified, drew a bead on a fink, fat buck and was about to fire when he was struck by the resemblance of his target to "Nipper," a pet mule-deer buck whose picture appeared in the Colonist some weeks ago.

COULDN'T SHOOT

He found himself unable to pull the trigger and a short time later was on the telephone to Mrs. Bruce Campbell in whose home Nipper lives.

He asked if the same deer was at home, then replied, "thank goodness" when told that it was.

The hunter, who identified himself only as a Victorian, then presumably tried to take up the chase where it left off.

FINE GESTURE

"I would have liked to shake his hand for it was a fine gesture on his part," said Mrs. Campbell.

Mr. and Mrs. Campbell care for four deer at their home. Mr. Campbell is employed at the Stanley Park Zoo in Vancouver.

FEARS KHOTN

"Every time I hear a shot fired I fear for our deer," Mrs. Campbell said.

Dial Phones for Texada Island

TEXADA ISLAND — An $82,000 B.C. Telephone Co. project to serve this Georgia Strait island with dial telephones will bear fruit on Monday.

As automatic exchange installed in a new building at Vananda on Texada's north-east coast will go into operation serving Vananda, Gillies Bay and Blubber Bay.

200 subscribers and embodies a new radio system linking Texada Island with Powell River.

Operator service for long-distance and other calls will be handled by the Powell River exchange.

To Dive Deeper

NEW YORK (UPI) — The first all-aluminum submarine, designed for depths "many times" greater than conventional underwater vessels, will be ready for launching sometime in 1963.

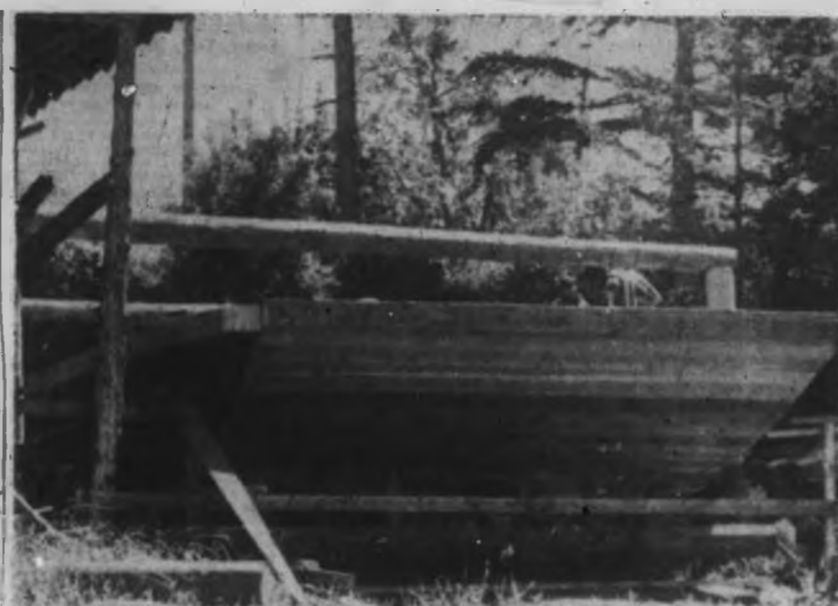

The electric boat division of General Dynamics Corp. announced it has been awarded a $2,000,000 contract to build the 50-foot, 70-ton "Aluminaut" and construction will begin immediately.

Do-It-Yourself Ferry

When most ferry companies decide on a new vessel they seek a government construction subsidy and competitive bids from shipyards. But not Hornby Island ferry skipper Capt. Albert Savole. He designed his own six-car hull with novel power tunnel down the centre for shallow-draft landings, had plans checked by a naval architect, then launched this mammoth do-it-yourself project. Vessel will be in service next year. It is being built on Hornby Island with help of local craftsmen. (Leahy photo.)

CAMPBELL RIVER — RCMP yesterday identified 65-year-old bachelor William Woods of Campbell River as the man feared lost overboard from a small boat found drifting Tuesday near Thurlow Island.

The RCMP boat Massett is searching the area where Woods' small boat, filled with supplies and bearing a dog as its only passenger, was found.

The supplies had been purchased earlier at Refuge Cove on West Redonda Island.

New Clue In Attack

NANAIMO — Police said yesterday a blood-stained hammer handle found at the scene of the Sept. 22 attack on an 18-year-old girl may prove a vital clue in locating her assailant. They believe she was struck over the head several times with the hammer. The girl, whose name has not been released, is recovering.

Gulf Islands Book Sells

Sales of a book titled "A Gulf Islands Patchwork," recently published by the islands branch of the B.C. Historical Society, indicate people are showing growing interest in the area.

For the society itself it is a gamble that has paid off. Cost of printing 1,000 copies was born by the branch and it is believed there are only a few copies still available at local book stores.

The book contains stories of early life on the Gulf Islands with character sketches of some of their notable citizens.

VANCOUVER (CP)—A citizen has the right to resist arrest if he is not told why he is being arrested, Magistrate A. L. Bewley ruled Thursday in throwing out a police charge of assault against Yvonne Black, 27.

Constable Richard Begley charged the woman kicked him after he had arrested her male companion. So he arrested her too, but admitted in court he did not state the charge.

CODE QUOTED

The magistrate quoted the Criminal Code about police telling persons why they are being taken into custody. He said the courts would back police to the hilt in their duty but they must conform to the Criminal Code wherever possible.

A drunk charge against the man in the case, Bruce Erickson, also was dismissed.

Nigeria Seeks Men, Planes In Canada

OTTAWA (CP)—Nigerian Defence Minister Ribadu said Thursday he will recommend his government purchase about $6,000,000 worth of transport planes from De Havilland Aircraft of Canada, Downsview, Ont.

He also said in an interview he has asked Canada to supply instructors for the Nigerian armed forces and to train 30 student officers in this country each year.

Mr. Ribadu, who has conferred here with Prime Minister Diefenbaker and Defence Minister Harkness, said Nigeria will need "many more" instructors than the 30 Canada has sent to Ghana, another African member of the Commonwealth.

He said there is every indication Nigeria's request will receive very sympathetic consideration from the Canadian government.

TO SURVEY NEEDS

The next step should be for a Canadian armed forces team to go to Nigeria to assess that country's needs and see what Canada can do to supply them.

He said the matter is "pretty urgent" and that he hoped the Canadian team would leave for Nigeria by the end of October.

He said the matter is "pretty urgent" and that he hoped the Canadian team would leave for Nigeria by the end of October.

B.C. Telephone Attacked by MP

OTTAWA (CP)—The British Columbia Telephone Company came under heavy criticism in the Commons Thursday night.

Erhart Regier (CCF-Burnaby-Coquitlam) said the company "by hook or by crook" has "escaped" provincial jurisdiction of the B.C. Public Utilities Commission and still remains under the jurisdiction of the federal Board of Transport Commissioners.

The board accepted "holobolus" any argument advanced by the company. No argument by any B.C. community had ever been given serious consideration by the board.

Company replies to complaints were "accepted as gospel" by the board.

Telephone users in British Columbia paid twice the rates of users in some other provinces. The company had a "fantastic device"—the more users, the fewer exchanges established and the higher the rates.

MPs End Longest Session

OTTAWA (CP)—The longest parliamentary session in Canadian history was pronounced early today with the reading of the speech from the throne by (Chief Justice) Patrick Kerwin, deputy-Governor-General.

For the weary Commons members, who started their work last Nov. 17 and had been on a six-day week since May, it was the 174th sitting day. The previous record session was 155 days in 1953.

Deaths 'Only Started' Castro Tells Invaders

Fallout Here Light But Mainland High

While sprinkles of rain over the lower mainland recorded high radiation counts, Pacific Naval Laboratory scientists in Victoria said yesterday radioactivity over the island has remained light.

The general radioactivity fallout count over Victoria remains at about 10 times the levels recorded before the Russians resumed nuclear testing, the scientists added.

MIAMI (UPI)—Premier Castro declared early today the firing squads which resumed wholesale execution of his foes this month have only begun their work.

Castro said his "revolutionary tribunals" are dealing with the Cubans arrested by the thousands at the time of the abortive April invasion.

Castro also announced:

● His regime intends to wipe out gambling and prostitution in Cuba.

● Communist countries have promised to buy 4,500,000 tons of Cuban sugar during the next four years at prices over the world market.

'Mother Country Idea Dead to Canadians'

LONDON (CP)—A Canadian delegate to the Commonwealth parliamentary conference said yesterday Britain now is little more than a tourist attraction for most Canadians.

Douglas Fisher, CCF member of Parliament for Port Arthur, told delegates there were two reasons why Canadians at the conference had made innocuous contributions to the debates.

"In the first place those of us in opposition have no desire to embarrass the Canadian government by talking about the (European) Common Market problem," he said.

"Secondly it must be made clear that Canada's links with Britain now are very tenuous.

"Unlike our Australian and New Zealand friends, we can't accept this whole business of mother country."

"The days when a Canadian could boast 'a British subject I was born, a British subject I shall die' are passed."

Fisher said Britain's possible entry into the Common Market was just something Canadians would have to adjust to.

"And we always have a great neighbor to our south (the United States) on whom we can count for certain alternatives."

Fisher's speech was greeted by polite applause from the conference's 140 delegates.

Paratroops Wiped Out

BEIRUT, Lebanon (UPI)—Syrian rebel officers early today claimed victory in "freeing" the country from despotism and the rule of UAR President Gamal Abdel Nasser and claimed to have wiped out a number of paratroops in the Latakia area.

The rebel radio also claimed the support of the Syrian First Army, which Nasser earlier had ordered into action against the revolt.

Rebel broadcasts also claimed that Aleppo, Syria's largest city, was in their hands, as well as the capital, Damascus.

In still another broadcast, Radio Damascus proclaimed formation of an independent Syrian government led by army Lt. Col. Mahmoud El Kuzbari, said Jordan had claimed 200 Egyptian paratroops dropped on the port city of Latakia had been wiped out.

NASSER 'A DESPOT'

Radio Damascus then promised that the army would get out of politics later and "restore the rule of the country to the handful of faithful people."

The broadcast called Nasser a despot and said he sought "bloodshed for his own benefit."

'SERIOUS THREAT'

In Cairo, the revolt was considered the most serious threat to the United Arab Republic since its formation. Officials said it was far more critical than an invasion from another country.

The Syrian officers' uprising against Nasser and control of their nation by the Cairo-dominated UAR revived the threat of Communist takeover in Syria. The revolutionaries were joined by Communists who demonstrated in the streets against Nasser and the UAR.

PLANNED UP

The claim of First Army support for the revolt was broadcast in the form of a rebel statement directed to Nasser, who earlier in the day had ordered the same troops to march on Damascus and restore his rule.

In the first of two speeches he made yesterday, Nasser told the First Army to recapture the Syrian capital. The revolt appeared to end at that time, but it flared up seven hours later, and Nasser again gave orders to march.

In his second radio broadcast in 10 hours, Nasser said Hindi and Hisham Abd Rabbu.

... no compromise

Last night "I shall never accept bargaining or compromise" with the rebels and warned that they must "accept the consequences of their action." He told the troops to "do your duty" to crush the revolt.

Nasser's warnings indicated he planned an all-out military action to smash the rebellion.

LEADERS FIRED

The UAR announced that Nasser had fired six leaders of the mutiny, stripped them of their rank and told their troops not to obey their orders. But the rebels retaliated by broadcasting their 11th communique of the day ordering a dark-to-dawn curfew. A 12th communique then said hopes for an end to the rebellion collapsed.

The UAR announcement listed the revolt leaders as Brig. Abdel Ghanl Dahman and Muwaffak Asafav, Lt. Col. Abdel Keim El Nahawi, Haydar El Kuzbari, Nasseeb
